Ex-Dishwasher Admits Killing Three Women

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—A stocky ex-dishwasher confessed Thursday that he bludgeoned three women to death last spring in a canyon of Starved Rock State Park.

The slayings first were admitted by Chester Otto Weger, 21, of nearby La Salle, in a semihysterical, sobbing confession. Then afterward, showing almost exuberant relief, he re-enacted the killings of last March.

They happened, he said, because his victims wouldn't cooperate in his attempt to rob them.

In a series of swift moves to wind up the eight-month-old case, evidence against Weger was presented to a grand jury late Thursday.

Authorities said the web of accusing circumstances had been closing around Weger for many weeks. He had worked in Starved Rock State Park Lodge at the time of the slayings.

11 Counts

In rapid sequence, after Weger began to tell his story between sobs at 1:45 a.m., he was arraigned on three murder charges and eight lesser charges involving other cases.

Then, taken in chains to the state park, he led authorities along St. Louis Canyon, re-enacting the killing of Lillian Oetting, 50; Mildred Lindquist, 50, and Frances Murphy, 47, all wives of business executives who lived in Riverside, a Chicago suburb.

The three women had gone together to the park for a brief holiday on March 14. After lunch at the lodge, they set out for a hike which took them to the canyon, a steep, narrow defile in limestone strata at the park's west edge.

Weger, who has a wife and two small children, told how he spotted the three women in the canyon while on a foray to snatch a purse and get some money.

He approached the women and made a grab for what he thought was a purse. As he tore it from Mrs. Murphy, breaking the strap, he saw that it was a camera. Then, he pleaded with the incensed women to go farther into the canyon and give him a chance to escape.

Tied Together

They finally acceded to the stocky, tousle-haired Weger. But he stalked them, still intent upon robbery. At the closed end of the canyon, he menaced them with a heavy piece of tree limb, then herded them to a small cave and tied them together with twine he had taken from the lodge kitchen.

"I tied them so they wouldn't follow me," he said. But Mrs. Murphy decided to fight him. Apparently, she parted the kitchen twine with her hands.

"When I started back, she came after me on the path," he said. "She hit me on the back of the head with the binoculars. I reached for the club as she hit me, and I turned and struck her on the back of the head."

He carried the unconscious woman back to the cave where the other women, partly free of their bonds, tried to fight him.

"One tried to scratch me. I don't know which one," Weger said. "I'd laid the club down, but I picked it up and hit them so they couldn't identify me. They lay back. I kept striking them."

But Mrs. Murphy, badly injured, got up and fought gamely again.

Clubbed To Death

"She hit me with the binoculars. They broke, and cut my chin," he said. "I grabbed the binoculars and clubbed her. She fell back, and I beat her until I killed her."

He told of feeling the pulses of his victims to make sure they were dead, and then, because he thought a circling plane he saw above the canyon rim might spot the crime, he dragged the women's bodies back into the cave. The death fight took place just outside.

State GOP Not Expected To Ask Statewide Recount

HARRISBURG (AP)—The prospect seemed faint Thursday that the Republican party organization in Pennsylvania would do more than a token job of challenging President-elect John F. Kennedy's 130,000 victory margin.

For one thing, the job would cost no less than $450,000 on a statewide basis, and party coffers are not exactly brimming with cash these days.

National Republican Chairman Thruston Morton issued a suggestion for recounts in the various states last week. This was after unofficial results of the Nov. 8 election showed Kennedy had defeated Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon by one of the barest national margins in history.

Thursday, Pennsylvania GOP Chairman George I. Bloom said: "We are investigating the situation in Luzerne, Lackawanna, Allegheny, and Philadelphia counties. Just how far we will go is unknown right now, but there will be no general recount throughout the 67 counties."

It costs $50 a precinct to contest an election under Pennsylvania law, payable in advance. There were 9,044 precincts open in the recent election.

This means that if the state Republican organization undertook to challenge the vote in each of those precincts, it would be necessary to put up $452,200 before the recount even started. Wherever fraud is uncovered, the money is reimbursed to the challenging party.

Just to carry on a recount in the four strategic counties Bloom outlined would mean the party would be called upon to post $174,960. There are 3,499 precincts in those populous counties, which include the cities of Pittsburgh, Wilkes-Barre, Philadelphia, and Scranton.

Cuba Rejects American Note

HAVANA (AP) — Cuba rejected Thursday a U.S. Embassy note protesting what the embassy called the Roman circus trial and execution of three Americans seized with an anti-Castro invasion band.

A Cuban reply warned that any future invaders "Who are not left on the field of battle mixing their blood with the dust of our land will face the same revolutionary justice."

Fire In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A fire did heavy damage Thursday night to a three-story auto supply house and smoke seeped into a movie theater next door. About 100 people watching the picture filed out of the Strand Theater at 13th Street and Girard Avenue. No one was injured.

Kennedy Asks For Report On Situation

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President- elect John F. Kennedy ended his first postelection discussion with his vice president-elect Thursday night and asked for a full report on the grave situation in three Latin American countries.

Kennedy flew to Austin from the ranch of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, then on to Palm Beach, Fla., where it was learned he will ask the chief intelligence officer of the United States, Allen Dulles, for a full report Friday on the situation in Guatemala and Nicaragua plus Costa Rica.

The situation in these three countries led Kennedy to ask Dulles to come down to Palm Beach for the conference. The Dulles invitation was issued before President Eisenhower's action Thursday, it was learned.

Eisenhower dispatched U.S. warships and planes to Nicaragua and Guatemala against possible Communist-inspired attacks.

Kennedy said he and Vice President-elect Johnson, in the 24 hours he spent at Johnson's LBJ Ranch, had a "long and profitable discussion of plans and programs for our administration."

Also in the international field, he said they covered matters expected to arise at a session of NATO parliamentarians in Paris next week. Johnson will be chairman of the U.S. delegation there.

Kennedy and the man he predicted Thursday night will be the most effective vice president in history hunted deer together during the day and worked in talks on farm and other problems during their outing.

It was Kennedy's first deer hunt. He had beginner's luck. He got himself two bucks.

"We also discussed current problems involved in the transition from the present administration to the new administration," Kennedy said.

Body Identified In Wayne County

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP) — State police have tentatively identified the decomposed body of a man found in the woods near here as David O. Jones, of New York City.

He was identified from an income tax W-2 form found on him, state police said.

The body was found Wednesday by Joseph Melcher and Claude Fritch, both of Bally, while hunting near Open Woods Pond in Berlin Township.

State police said there is no evidence of foul play, and there was some speculation he may have died from exposure.

Dependent Separation

Army Acts To Ease Blow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department announced Thursday that the reduction in overseas dependents of military personnel will be carried out with little separation of families now abroad.

This news came a few hours after the Army's civilian boss had seen a threat to the armed forces' combat effectiveness in the reduction order.

Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. said reduction of the total of overseas dependents by about 284,000 will be carried out at the rate of at least 15,000 a month and will start in January. The reduction was ordered Wednesday by President Eisenhower as one of several steps to reduce spending of U.S. dollars overseas.

Gates, in a special message to all commands, said the reduction program can be carried out mainly by having men now overseas return to the United States with their families at the end of their normal tours of duty; returning some with their families before completion of their regular assignments; and reducing the number of dependents sent overseas in the future.

Gates added the dependents program should be carried out without regard to rank or station. He specifically excluded from the program armed forces units in Alaska, Hawaii, the Panama Canal Zone, the Mariannas, Marshalls, Midway, Samoa and Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

In an apparent effort to offset any adverse effect on morale, Gates requested the commanders to give this information the widest possible dissemination.

Earlier in the day, Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker became the first highly placed official to enter any sort of public dissent from this part of Eisenhower's multiphased move against U.S. overseas spending.

Not All Agreed

Brucker saw in the dependent reduction a threat to combat effectiveness, and he expressed sympathy for those affected by it.

Brucker's reaction brought no immediate official comment from the Defense Department or other high administration sources. Some officers disputed his views, however.

Speaking to a military audience at the Army's big Infantry Training Center at Ft. Benning, Ga., Brucker said he felt "much the same as you do" about the order. It ultimately will affect more than half of the approximately 483,000 dependents with servicemen overseas.

Brucker acknowledged the White House directive is an order to be carried out. But he expressed his concern about the impact on morale when he said: "I will do everything in my power to diminish the blow to them (Army families) and to soften the effect on the combat effectiveness and morale of our Army." And he implied he'd make the process for the Army a deliberate one by careful examination of each step before it is taken.

To Protect Against Red Invaders

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower has rushed U.S. Navy warships and air units into position to defend revolt-threatened Guatemala and Nicaragua against any Communist-led attack.

The vacation White House announced the emergency action Thursday in a clear warning to Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro to keep hands off both Central American republics.

The President acted amid mounting tension in the Caribbean after Guatemala and Nicaragua fought off antigovernment revolts and charged Castro with helping the rebels.

Swiftly answering written appeals for help, Eisenhower ordered Navy fleet units, including at least one aircraft carrier, to "seek out and prevent" any outside invasion.

"Our ships are now on the high seas," said press secretary James G. Hagerty who reported Eisenhower's decision.

The State Department said the American naval and air units would operate within the territorial limits of Guatemala or Nicaragua should it become necessary to act against any Communist-directed invasion. Action beyond the three-mile limit will be avoided because it could be considered piracy.

The President's spokesman refused to identify the fleet units sent into the trouble area or to pinpoint their exact location.

In Washington, the Navy said the carrier is the Shangri La which with four destroyers from Mayport, Fla., is patrolling the Caribbean between Cuba and the coast of Central America.

U.S. warships often carry Marines but Hagerty said the warships sent to help Guatemala and Nicaragua did not have any Marine infantry units with them, so far as he knew.

Eisenhower personally ordered the naval move late Wednesday, Hagerty said, after an urgent telephone call from Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in Washington.

Written Requests

Herter advised him that both Guatemala and Nicaragua, alarmed at the possibility of more antigovernment uprising, had sent formal, written requests for U.S. assistance.

Eisenhower then gave his instructions by phone to Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. at the Pentagon.

The President followed this up by a conference at his Augusta Golf Club vacation office with Herter, Gates and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

This confidential conference came after the President met for more than two hours with his top policy-making National Security Council.

School Directors Request Recess To Integration

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Shaken by disorders that swept through this tense city, the New Orleans School Board Thursday sought federal court permission for a recess to integration of public schools.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright—the jurist who ordered the integration—said he would hear arguments on the motion Friday.

One-third of the white public school pupils in New Orleans played truant today, 12,666 of a total white enrollment of 36,725.

A growing boycott of the two elementary schools integrated last Monday just about reached 100 per cent Thursday. Three white pupils reported at William Frantz, one at McDonogh No. 19.

Downtown New Orleans went about its workaday business, free of the roaming masses of unruly teen-agers that forced police to call on fire hoses and mounted officers Wednesday.

The aftermath of the violence died slowly during the night. Police rushed cars throughout the city, and arrested nearly two-score youths for fights and rock-throwing.

The board's move to return to segregated schools until differences between city and state can be ironed out came on a motion filed by Samuel Rosenberg, the board's attorney.

The motion did not ask that the integration order be vacated. It asked time to ease tempers, to work out a solution to the bitter dispute between segregationists and the court order.

It asked for permission to return to segregation, but Lloyd Rittiner, board president, admonished: "This action should in no way be construed by Gov. (Jimmie H.) Davis, Mr. (Shelby) Jackson (state education superintendent), or any member of the State Legislature as an abdication of our stand for a continuance of our public education system."

Rosenberg said: "The public school system has been made a battleground for the fight between state and federal rights."

Thursday's motion is a move "to remove public schools from this position," Rittiner said.

JFK Vote Total Below A Majority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Winner John F. Kennedy appeared almost certain Thursday to wind up with less than a majority of all votes cast Nov. 8 for president of the United States.

With 1,549 precincts still out and many absentee ballots yet to be tallied, Democratic President-elect Kennedy had 33,862,693 votes to 33,676,099 for Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

This was a Kennedy lead of only 186,594 out of more than 67½ million votes last week for him and Nixon.

But his plurality over Nixon was more than outweighed by hundreds of thousands of votes for unpledged presidential electors and minor party candidates.

A winning slate of eight unpledged electors in Mississippi received 109,400 votes, while in Louisiana States Rights electors got 156,269 votes with one parish—county—still unreported.

On top of this, eight states had reported 95,539 votes for minor party candidates. In most cases the tabulation was based on incomplete returns.

Most states will not report the vote for splinter parties until the official canvass. It will be December before all these returns are in.

This would be the 14th time in history that a winning presidential candidate has failed to collect a majority of all votes — the fourth time since the turn of the century.

The last time was in 1948 when Harry S. Truman defeated Republican Thomas E. Dewey and two other challengers of any consequence. In his winning campaigns in 1912 and 1916, Woodrow Wilson also fell short of a majority.

Meanwhile, Republicans took some solace from Nixon's belated capture of his native California and its 32 electoral votes—although it still left Kennedy the national winner with 300 electoral votes.

American Incomes Up In October

WASHINGTON (AP)—The personal income of Americans rose slightly in October to a record rate of $409.6 billion a year despite sluggish business activity.

A decline in the total wages paid factory workers was shown by the report issued Thursday by the Commerce Department although record production in the motor industry brought bigger paychecks to auto workers.

This dip was more than offset by small gains in wages and salaries of workers in the retail and in the construction industry. As in September, rising unemployment compensation benefits also contributed to the small gain in total income.

Recovery Hinted

The income trend seemed to bear out the expectation of some government economists that the final quarter of the year would bring a leveling-off, or possibly a slight recovery, in the downtrend which became evident in September.

Some Washington experts have predicted, however, that any autumn improvement would be only a temporary break in a mild recessionary trend. Others insist they see no clear signs that a recession is in progress or is coming.

The output of mines, mills and utilities held even in October, the Federal Reserve Board reported Wednesday.

Industrial production had slipped in September to a rate 3 per cent below the average of the first half of this year.

The Commerce Department said personal income was $800 million higher in October than the $408.8 billion annual rate reported for September. It was $25 billion above the rate of October of last year.

U. N. Group To Go To Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Conciliation Commission for the Congo announced Thursday night that it would begin work there a week from next Saturday.

The decision was made public despite statements of Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu that the 15-nation Asian-African commission should not go to his country without his consent—and that he could not give his consent until he was seated in the U.N. General Assembly.

Didn't Live To See Child

Clark Gable Dies Of Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Clark Gable, whose crackling voice, rough-hewn face and husky frame became the symbol of American manhood to the world, has died of heart failure at 59.

He was king of the movie world from the moment he slapped Norma Shearer in "A Free Soul" in 1931 until death came swiftly at 11 p. m. Wednesday (2 a. m. Thursday EST).

Thought to have been recovering from a heart attack, he had eaten a good dinner and had been taking an evening nap. He breathed two short gasps and died without apparent pain before his wife could be summoned from across the hall at Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital.

Mrs. Gable, herself a heart patient, is five months' pregnant with the actor's first child.

Last Picture

Even since he was stricken with coronary thrombosis 10 days ago—two days after completing his last film — Gable had told his wife repeatedly: "I feel terrible doing this to you and the baby."

When death came, Mrs. Gable was enveloped in the arms of her maid Louisa, who murmured to her: "You're going to have his baby. Don't you worry."

Mrs. Gable was taken to the 20-acre Encino ranch where the star had lived for his last 23 years. She had spent the entire time of his illness with him at Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital and had been certain of his recovery. He had been heartened by good wishes from President Eisenhower and hundreds of fans. Wednesday had been his best day since he fell ill.

Hollywood was slow in realizing his value. After a boyhood of following his father around lumber camps, Gable came to the movie town in the 1920s to work as an extra.

He recalled later: "Everybody said, 'You'll never do anything in pictures; you're not handsome and your ears are too big.' I said, 'Okay, maybe my ears won't look so big on the stage,' and went to New York."

Sought by Filmdom

He had fair success on Broadway and was touring in "The Last Mile" when Hollywood decided to give him a chance. Big ears or not, he was sought by an industry converting to sound and needful of actors who could speak.

Mastery over the female was Gable's stock in trade. Men envied it. Women desired it. And throughout his 30-year career Gable always won over his feminine adversaries.

Though he never appeared to push his career, he remained a top star for a generation. His heyday was in the '30s when he made a long series of hit films, mostly as a hard-fisted man of action. It was a tribute to his resilience that his popularity never declined although none of his postwar films matched the brilliance of his early ones. He still drew top salary—$750,000 for his last film, plus three weeks of overtime at $48,000 a week.

Clark Gable

He always conducted himself with dignity and though he had five marriages, his name was never tinged with scandal. His first two wives, Josephine Dillon and Maria Langham, were older than he; both divorced him.

Then came his marriage to the vivacious Carole Lombard, whose love of life seemed well suited for Gable. He was hard hit when she died in a wartime plane crash. After resuming his acting career following Air Force service, he married Lady Sylvia Ashley, widow of Douglas Fairbanks Sr. It was a mistake; Gable couldn't take the chi-chi world in which she traveled.

Two Step-Children

Gable's marriage to the former Kay Spreckels seemed to suit him. The vital, down-to-earth blonde brightened a life that had known much tragedy, and he treated her two children as his own. The greatest joy of his last months was the prospect of becoming a father for the first time at 60.

After finishing "The Misfits" two weeks ago, he announced "I'm taking off until the baby is born in March. I want to be there when it happens and for a good many months afterward."

Funeral services were set for 9 a.m. Saturday in the Church of the Recessional at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in nearby Glendale. They will be private, for members of the family and close personal friends.

Judge Rhodes' Opinion Reverses Order Of PUC

THE State Superior Court Wednesday reversed an order of the Public Utility Commission refusing permission for five trucking companies to haul cement from eastern Pennsylvania plants.

The opinion was written by President Judge Chester H. Rhodes of Stroudsburg. It directed the PUC to take "action not inconsistent with this opinion. Judge Rhodes held the applications of the five companies should have been granted.

Last April the commission refused requests of the firms to transport cement in bulk and bags from producers in eastern Pennsylvania to other points within the state.

"Limit Industry"

The end result, Judge Rhodes said, "is to limit the cement industry of eastern Pennsylvania to intrastate shipment of their products wholly by rail except for existing rights given three motor truck carriers which are limited to cement in bulk and only to off-rail delivery places."

29 IMPROVEMENTS IN THE RENAULT DAUPHINE
It still slips through traffic, runs rings inside other cars, parks and unparks with a finger (natural power steering). It still delivers up to 40 miles to the gallon (48.54 MPG in the 1960 Mobile Mileage Rally). It still looks the same. So where are the 29 improvements?

PORTLAND RESIDENTS ANGRY—This Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad flat car is a source of irritation to residents of Portland who have had to look at it every day for the past couple of months. It was accidentally rammed over barrier at end of track while being shifted and has been considered an eye-sore by residents since then. Requests to railroad to remove it from old Route 611 in center of town have been unavailing.

2nd Truck Loses Air, Turns Over

THE SECOND truck within the past 18 days lost its air as it traveled east on Phillips St., Stroudsburg, and rolled over. Again the driver rode the truck to a stop and crawled from the wreckage uninjured.

Patrolman Russell Decker, investigating the accident for the Stroudsburg police department, identified the driver of the truck as Joseph J. Sarnitzkey, 50, of Cementon.

Sarnitzkey told the policeman he was traveling east on Phillips Street and started down the hill toward Fifth Street.

Applied Brakes

"I shifted from fifth to fourth gear to have complete control of the truck. I applied the air brakes to slow down further and at this time I found I had no brakes," he continued.

Sarnitzkey attempted to make the left turn into Fifth Street and it is believed that the load of sand shifted and caused the truck to roll over.

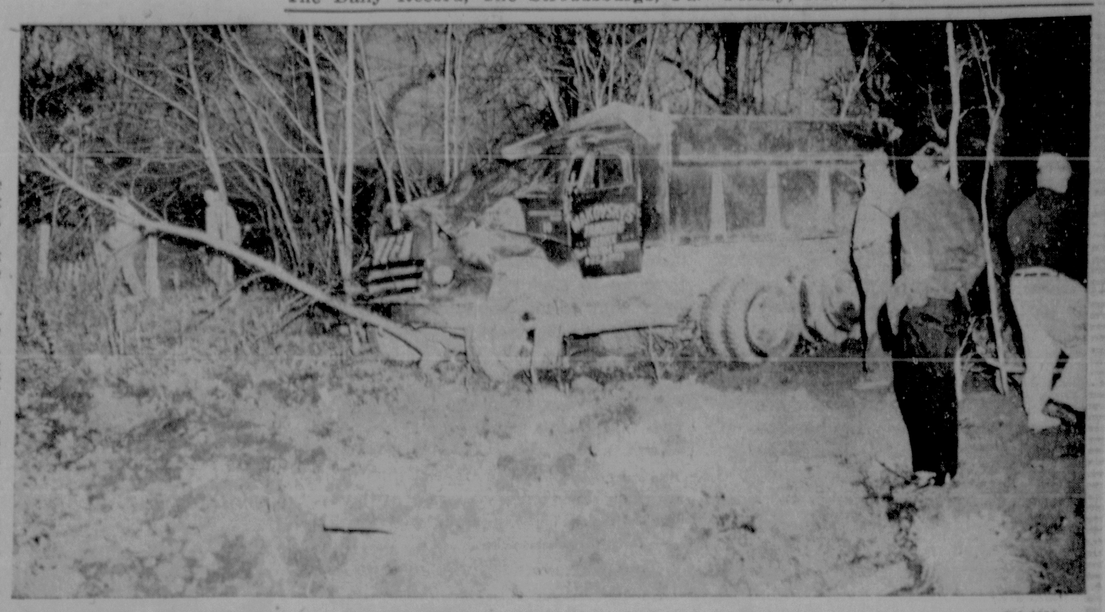
The truck rolled over twice and came to a stop when it was held from rolling down the bank by the second growth of trees in the area.

Total Loss

Police estimated the truck as a total loss.

The truck is owned by Makousky Brothers, Cementon, and is one of several employed in the construction of the flood project on the Brodheads Creek.

Police made no arrest last night and are continuing their investigation today.



BATTERED, BENT AND BROKEN—This truck driven by Joseph J. Sarnitzkey, 50, of Cementon came to a stop in a lot at the intersection of N. Fifth and Phillips Streets, Stroudsburg, yesterday at 4:35 p.m., after losing its air brakes coming east on Phillips Street. The truck rolled over end twice before being stopped by the trees. The driver escaped injuries.

Monroe County Jail Escapee Nabbed By Local Policemen

DONALD Kispaugh, 16, of 129 N. Second St., Stroudsburg, was apprehended yesterday at approximately 10 a.m. informing Second St., Stroudsburg by local policemen.

Monroe County Sheriff Jacob F. Altemose received an anonymous phone call yesterday at approximately 10 p.m. informing him where Kishpaugh might be found between 1 and 2 p.m.

Sheriff Altemose notified Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg police and State Police at the Stroudsburg barracks. The police and members of the sheriff's force surrounded the area.

Goes To Cellar

Sheriff Altemose and Trooper Evan Chaplin entered the house Kishbaugh was believed to be in. As they started up the stairs a person was seen going into the cellar of the building.

The sheriff continued up the stairs and Trooper Chaplin proceeded to the basement and apprehended the youth in the basement.

Kishbaugh was returned to Monroe County Jail and action will be taken after Sheriff Altemose confers with District Attorney James Marsh today.

Union, Zinc Firm Confer On Strike

WALTER C. MOSER, area commissioner for the Federal Mediation Conciliation Service, met yesterday for the third time this week to negotiate with the New Jersey Zinc Company and officials of Local 3317 and 4830, United Steelworkers Union, for the settlement of the 104-day-old strike in the plant in Palmerton.

No word has been released by either side as to the progress, but persons contaced have reported that some headway has been made.

The big issue "not arrived at as yet" is the union request for vested rights in the pension plan sponsored by the company.

The union has taken the position on this issue that when it accepted a "package" deal several years ago, an item of nine cents an hour was to be placed by the company for each man in a pension fund.

Not Recalled

However, since the time of that agreement automation and the laying off of employes of the New Jersey Zinc Co., due to the declining demand on the American zinc market, have never been recalled.

The union contends that the more than 1,000 employes have been with the company 15 or more years and is asking that if an employe has 15 or more years service, and is 40 years of age when permanently laid off that he be entitled to a pension when he reaches the age of 65.

Rocket Falters In Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The last test rocket in the Polaris 1,300-mile series faltered in flight Thursday when the second stage conked out seconds after ignition.

The malfunction marred an attempt to close on a successful note what otherwise has been a highly successful test program for the A1 model of the submarine missile. The Navy now will concentrate on developing the advance A2 missile with a range of 1,725 miles.

The 28-foot Polaris roared off to a good start Thursday, trailing a characteristic plume of white smoke from its solid-fuel engines. The second stage ignited on schedule, but suddenly petered out and tumbled into the Atlantic.

Challenge In Italy

Italy, too, is assessing election results. Though its citizens voted to fill municipal and provincial offices, the results bear importantly on the strength of Italy's national government and its relations with other powers in the cold war struggle.

The Communists, benefiting from the recent population surge to the larger cities, received one-quarter of the total vote. Some of the Communist gain, however, was made at the expense of the left-wing Socialists, who were joined with the Communists in the 1956 elections, but since have been cut loose by Pietro Nenni's denunciation of Moscow's dictation.

The other major party to increase its strength was Premier Fanfani's Christian Democrats, who received nearly 41 per cent of the ballots. This is expected to convince the other centrist parties that cooperation under Christian Democratic leadership is essential to their survival.

To counter the rising strength of the Communists, Premier Fanfani may be tempted to explore an "opening to the left" that would admit Socialists with pro-Western leanings.

The risk, of course, is that such an arrangement would alienate the more conservative elements of the centrist coalition and possibly wreck it.

But also involved is the recognized need to broaden the foundations of democracy to attract youngsters who now seem to be wavering between indifference and communism.

Upon Premier Fanfani's success in this precarious venture rests the stability of Italy's government and the strength of its attachment to the Atlantic alliance.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Ruble Devaluation

As was to be expected, the Soviet Government is seeking to hide the clear fact that it is devaluing the ruble both in relation to gold and in relation to the dollar. The propaganda line to be followed in this endeavor was clearly set by Finance Minister Garbuzov in his Pravda article.

It centers upon the assertion that the unilateral decision of the Soviet Government declaring that next year the dollar will be worth only nine-tenths of a ruble "proves" that the ruble is a more valuable and a better currency than the dollar.

One needs only elementary arithmetic to see through the semantic trickery at the base of this propaganda and to appreciate that a devaluation of the ruble has taken place. Let us make the simple calculations required.

The Soviet decree of Feb. 28, 1950, declared that the ruble was equal to .222168 grams of pure gold. Next Jan. 1 the Soviet Union is introducing a new "heavy" ruble equal to ten present rubles. If the 1950 decree had remained operative, therefore, the heavy ruble would be equal to 2.22168 grams of gold.

Instead, however, the decree announced Tuesday puts the gold content of the new heavy ruble at .987412 grams of gold, an obvious devaluation of over 50 per cent. Similarly since 1950 the official ruble value in terms of dollars has been set in the ratio of four rubles to one dollar.

If that had been retained the ratio between next year's heavy ruble and the dollar would have been defined as forty kopeks, or two-fifths of a heavy ruble, equal to one dollar. Instead the new decree more than doubles the value of the dollar in relation to the heavy ruble and the new ratio will be ninety kopeks equal one dollar.

The Soviet Government has really completed the devaluation of the ruble in relation to the dollar that it began in 1957. Early that year it announced a series of premiums which permitted American tourists visiting that country to get ten rubles for a dollar rather than the four rubles the official rate would have entitled them to receive.

But though it made this concession to reality the Soviet Government did not finally come to grips fully with the overvaluation of the ruble until Tuesday's drastic devaluation.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Dr. Philip Jessup

It is true that as the course of events moves, men grow wiser; they correct their errors of thought and decision. On the other hand, when the errors were of so serious a nature as to imperil their country, it is soundest to avoid trusting such persons not to be doctrinate in their attitudes.

Dr. Philip Jessup of Columbia University was at one time a vigorous activist in the Institute of Pacific Relations, chairman of its American Council, chairman of its international council and of its research committee.

Now it is proposed that the same Philip Jessup be chosen as the American member of the International Court before whom questions may come concerning which Dr. Jessup's position must remain in doubt.

The Institute, during the years when Dr. Jessup was most active in it, was under the domination of E. C. Carter and Frederick Vanderbilt Field, the latter an open Communist.

The record shows that Jessup had a very important voice in the Hot Springs Conference of the I. P. R. in January 1945. This Conference was a prelude to the San Francisco Conference of the allied nations to organize the United Nations.

Recommendations as to who should be delegates to the I.P.R. meeting came from Philip Jessup and Lauchlin Currie, the latter at that time being stationed in the White House. The McCarran Committee reports that:

". . . Of the approximately 30 recommendations by Jessup, 10 were identified by witnesses as being associated with the Communist organization."

The McCarran Committee states:

The material "shows how the leaders of the IPR and their advisers— Lattimore, Carter, Currie, Hiss, Vincent, Jessup, Field, and Fairbank — conducted their operations during the war.

Through their influence in the White House, by reports from Foreign Service officers in the field, and through the Mission of the Vice President (Henry Wallace) to China, they sought to bring pressure to bear to undermine the Chinese Government, and to exalt the status of the Chinese Communist Party first to that of a recognized force, and then to that of a coalition government."

The McCarran report also states:

"During this period Mr. Philip C. Jessup expressed to Admiral Cooke opposition to United States aid for the Nationalist Government. General Chennault testified that he urged Jessup not to release the white paper as it would undermine the Nationalist Government. The white paper was nevertheless released.

"Jessup acknowledged before the Foreign Relations Committee that he edited the white paper, which was released July 30, 1949."

Regarding Jessup's career, the McCarran Committee states:

". . . Jessup had had extensive experience in the Institution of Pacific Relations, but there is evidence that up to the time when he became active in the Institute he had in no way specialized in Far Eastern policy . . ."

Also is to be noted:

"The committee finds that the October 1949 conference held in the State Department, and presided over by Philip C. Jessup, is a clear instance in which persons associated with the Institute of Pacific Relations became conspicuously influential in shaping American foreign policy.

"In the opinion of the committee, the selection of personnel, the events at the conference and the subsequent developments established clearly the influence of individuals associated with the IPR sought to exert on the foreign policy of the United States.

". . . On Nov. 29, 1949, Philip C. Jessup told Admiral Cooke that we were going to furnish no more munitions to Nationalist China. On Jan. 5, 1950, three months after the conference, President Truman announced that the United States had no intention of providing military aid to the Nationalists on Formosa and that Formosa should be returned to 'China' in accordance with the Cairo agreement."

Lawrence K. Rosinger, when questioned by the McCarran Committee, declined to answer whether he was or was not a Communist, taking a Fifth Amendment, as the plea is called. Nevertheless, he was invited to attand a consultation by the Secretary of State and he prepared a paper on the American Far Eastern policy which he submitted to Dr. Philip C. Jessup in the State Department. Let me quote:

"Sen. Ferguson. But you were an adviser; and is it not true that, as such, you submitted a written document to the Secretary of State on questions of the Far East?

"Mr. Rosinger. Yes. The document was submitted to Mr. Jessup."

About Town

—By Gene Brown

This column suggests that there will be much consideration for the elimination of the electoral college system of choosing a president and that the sensible method would be a simple majority . . . and sometimes it is just that.

"Jim, wake up! There's a burglar in the kitchen and he's eating up the rest of the pie we had for dinner."

"Go back to sleep. I'll bury him in the morning."

Rugged Road Back

The Pennsylvania Story

Back From Space

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — The 1960 Legislature buzzed back from outer space this week, returned to earth on Monday with a slightly singed nose cone and in a fit and pother adjourned for the year—but not without shattering a few heretofore well established legislative (space) records!

In the first place, after shattering all previous records last year during the 1959 legislative session by enacting 791 pieces of legislation into law (exclusive of necessary appropriation legislation), the Legislature in its recessing space flight this year established a record in the opposite direction—with enactment of only three pieces of legislation, all three appropriation measures.

In another vein, although "in being" (but in recess most of the time) for ten months this year, the 1960 legislative hoedown actually met only 17 days —a brevity record for "regular" sessions (as opposed to special sessions) that dates back to 1790. And the executive branch got in its licks too.

Governor Lawrence for example, while signing a record-breaking 791 pieces of legislation into law during the 1959 session and a record low for any regular session of only 23 vetoes, topped the scales in the opposite direction in the 196 session just ended.

He signed no general bills into law — and wound up with no vetoes. He did sign three appropriation bills into law—the only type of legislation that could be considered by this first annual session Legislature.

Appointments In Absentia — A host of gubernatorial appointments were made this week by the Governor — appointments that failed to gain Senate confirmation and fall in the category of "interim" appointments, that is, appointments the Governor is permitted to make between legislative sessions when they have failed to gain approval during regular sessions.

The appointments in this category made this week by the Governor include such posts as posts on the Milk Control Commission, State Tax Equalization Board, Securities Commission, Air Pollution Commission and a swatch of others.

Curiously perhaps, the appointments were made by the Governor this week even though he isn't here — he's down in the land of the "Brazil nuts," South America, that is, where some 45 governors are on a two-week junket touring Brazil and Argentina.

How then did Mr. Lawrence make the appointments "this week?" They were signed and set up before he departed last week — on a "just-in-case" basis, ready to go as soon as the Legislature formally adjourned.

Election Aftermath — Back on September 15, as the campaign was getting up steam, the Democratic State Committee adopted an ambitious all-encompasing 28-point Democratic state platform for 1960. Quoth Democratic State Chairman John S. Rice at the time: "Every pledge will be enacted into law if Governor Lawrence is given a Democratic majority in the State House and Senate."

What happened? Democrats "escaped" by just one vote from being fully committed to putting the ambitions platform into effect. In the House, administration Democrats won fairly handily — 110 Democrats to 100 Republicans. In the Senate the race developed into a standoff 25 Democrats and 25 Republicans — with 26 votes needed to pass legislation!

Up Periscope! — Noted on the State Auditor General's "Daily Register" of bills up for payment the other day: "four human figures with muscles" for West Chester State College — $955.60. Question: is the Lawrence Administration going this far in providing "education for everybody"?

Not quite. A curiosity check by this column with the Department of Public Instruction reveals that no, West Chester State College is not going out in the raw market for its students — the "human figures" in question are plastic models for use in the college's health education department in the study of anatomy and physiology. Male or female? Two of each!

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

Yesterday we wrote a column on the situation at Stroud Union High. We tried to bring out the feelings and problems at the West Main St. institution. Possibly we failed. However, sincerely we do not think so.

In fact we are sure that the wordage in the article was okay. After all it is penned by us and had our byline glittering atop the, if you pardon, message.

Today before the print was dry on the article, we received a letter, downing our thoughts. But unlike most letters to an individual it was unsigned.

Our "hero" was most critical of football at Stroud Union. He went to to say and we quote:

"The Stroud Union football team is a bunch of GUTLESS TWERPS and nothing more. They had better stay home on Nov. 24 and let the girls of S. U. play for them.

"I am a Stroudsburg resident but those shrinking violets that call themselves a Football team are DISGUSTING."

The latter patter is addressed to yours truly and says, "For once print the TRUTH about them and maybe they will not get killed on 11/24."

Perhaps it would be better if the person who wrote this unsigned message had penned his monicker. Then, and only then, would we be willing to sit down and hash out his charges.

But when an individual has the audacity to call anyone gutless and then turn around and refuse to identify himself, we earnestly believe the cap is on the wrong head.

Like we pointed out Stroud Union has had its troubles on the gridiron this season. But we do not know of any program that hasn't shown the name of the so-called "gutless" player or players announcing their part in the fracas. This is more than we can say for our anonymous letter writer.

We were not trying to point out that Stroud Union has the possibilities of beating East Stroudsburg High on Turkey Day. But we were attempting to show that the Mountaineers are human and deserve the backing of the community despite their setbacks this year.

This is more than we can say of our "hero" of the typewriter.

The Allen-Scott Report

Nuclear Warning Plan

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — The Air Force is installing and testing a new nationwide warning system against surprise nuclear attack.

Three of the highly sensitive alarm devices, about the size of a fire hydrant, are being installed around 100 of the principal cities and military installations throughout the country. Later others will be added.

Each warning instrument is linked directly to five top command centers — the White House; the Pentagon; the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), Colorado Springs; the Strategic Air Command (SAC), Omaha; and the Emergency Military Headquarters, Ft. Ritchie, Md.

The nuclear alarm system is under the operational control of NORAD.

The warning devices and communication lines are leased from Western Union for around $2 million a year.

This new network is not part of SAGE, the "semi-automatic ground environment" communications system that American Telephone & Telegraph Co. through its subsidiary Western Electric Co., built for the Air Force several years ago at a cost of $2 billion. In addition to providing thousands of communications circuits, this far-flung project also erected numerous technical facilities.

Purpose of SAGE is to guard against surprise air and missile attack. This nationwide electronic system ties in directly with the DEW (distant early warning) Line in the Arctic, that extends from Alaska across Canada to Greenland.

The nuclear attack warning devices are designed to react only to such explosions.

The concept behind them is that the event of nuclear attack, communication lines would be destroyed and civil and military commanders would not know the location of these devastating blows. The new alarm devices would supply that all-important information.

These instruments are so constructed that they would report a nuclear explosion between the time it occurs and their own destruction by it.

They are now undergoing rigorous tests to ensure effectiveness and accuracy, particularly against sounding false alarms. It may be some time before this new system is deemed wholly fool-proof.

Defense Increase — President Eisenhower's last defense budget is tentatively set at $43 billion —an increase of $1.5 billion over what the military services are currently spending. He will send this budget to the new Congress early in January before he leaves office on the 20th of that month. His successor is not bound by these recommendations, and can cut or raise them as he desires. President Eisenhower sharply reduced the armed forces funds proposed by President Truman before he quit the White House. The President's departure will take a big load off Lieutenant General Leonard Heaton, Surgeon General of the Army. As the President's personal surgeon, Heaton has stayed close to Washington to be available for a possible emergency. But after the President retires, Heaton will be free to make long-overdue trips to Europe and the Far East to inspect medical facilities and operations.

For three noted retired military leaders, the Kennedy Administration will mean a marked change. Admiral Arthur Radford, former head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and strong partisan of Vice President Nixon, is certain to experience a big loss of influence in Pentagon affairs. His appointment as "consultant" to the Secretary of Defense will be junked. On the other hand, General Maxwell Taylor, one-time Army Chief of Staff, and Lieutenant General James Gavin, who retired as Army Chief of research and development because of disagreement with Eisenhower policies, are slated for a resounding comeback. One or both may be recalled to active duty by President-elect Kennedy. Taylor particularly is being discussed in inner Kennedy quarters as succesor to General Lauris Norstad, commander of NATO. Close to 1,200 pilots with more than 20 years' service are being "excused" by the Air Force from meeting proficiency flying requirements. Included in this group are 237 of the 418 generals with flying rating. This cut is part of the Air Force's program of reducing its rated officers to 70,620.

Social Whirl — Commerce Secretary Frederick Mueller was politely but firmly turned down when he asked for a Scotch and soda at an elaborate party Sheikh Absullah Al-Khayyal, Ambassador of Saudi Arabia, gave to commemorate the accession to the throne by King Saud.

Mueller was pointedly informed that it is not only against the Moslem religion to drink alcohol but against the law of Saudi Arabia to serve it. Reluctantly, Mueller settled for a glass of orange juice. But he ate heartily of the whole roast lamb stuffed with rice and pine nuts that featured the huge buffet. He also had a large slice of the green-and-white frosted birthday cake inscribed with a verse from the Koran in Arabic.

Secretary of State and Mrs. Herter are bowing out of official society next Friday with a dinner for all the foreign ambassadors and their wives. It will be a large and expensive party.

National YWCA leaders were a big disappointment to Madame Herve Alphand, wife of the French Ambassador. She gave a lavish tea for the ladies, meeting in Washington, but they largely ignored the delicious food, particularly an enticing array of genuine French pastry.

When Madame Alphand asked the reason, Mrs. Frederick Billings Lee, chairman, explained, "You see, we are all very diet conscious these days. We would love to partake of your gorgeous delicacies, but they are loaded with calories." Madame Alphand ruefully replied she "admired your will-power."

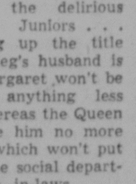
U. S. and other naval officers in the Capital are still trying to figure out the curious wording of an invitation from the Argentine Ambassador to a reception for Admiral Gaston Clement, Secretary of that country's navy. The unusual invitation read, "In retribution of attentions." However, it was a nice party and everyone had a pleasant time.

Inside You And Yours

When Appendicitis?

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Are doctors ever justified in operating for appendicitis when the patient doesn't have it?



In spite of all modern diagnostic tests, in spite of all the policing of the medical profession against unnecessary operations, many times the appendix removed by the surgeon is disgustingly healthy.

When it comes to the fate of the appendix, the doctor is often judge, jury, and executioner. But to safeguard the rights of every citizen to good health, the doctor has to assume the appendix is guilty until proven otherwise.

An occasional patient obviously has appendicitis.

Shifting Pain

His pain, which begins about the navel, gradually shifts to his right lower abdomen and he becomes nauseous, runs a mild fever and begins to vomit. On examination, the doctor finds signs typical of appendicitis.

Most cases aren't so clear-cut.

Like an intestinal banner, the appendix dangles loosely and may flow in any direction.

Erratic Action

Because the appendix is often several inches long, an infection at its far end may produce pain a good distance away from the right lower abdomen. The pain may be down in the thigh, across to the middle of the abdomen, up towards the chest or, if the appendix bends upward behind the intestine, the pain may be mainly in the back.

In addition, if the inflamed appendix touches another organ and irritates it, the irritation may cause more symptoms than the appendicitis.

Hard To Diagnose

To add to the confusion, many different conditions often masquerade as "typical" appendicitis.

Pneumonia, kidney infections, and liver ailments are a few of the many conditions which may be mistaken for an inflamed appendix. Children suffering from mild colds and sore throats frequently have swollen glands in the abdomen, a condition often indistinguishable from appendicitis.

Must Operate

Naturally, before he operates, the doctor will want to decide definitely whether or not the patient has appendicitis. He'll examine repeatedly, order laboratory tests and ask a thousand and one questions. But since not removing an inflamed appendix may lead to fatal complications, doctors agree that, when in doubt, they must operate.

Although today appendicitis is still incurable, perhaps before You and Yours come down with it, a drug will be found which can restore both appendix and patient to health.

In the meantime, doctors will have to continue separating each patient from his sick appendix, an operation always fatal—to the appendix.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—A twin-engine DC3 under government charter with 17 federal prisoners aboard landed safely at Williamsport-Lycoming Airport Thursday after one of its engines conked out in flight.

After the disabled plane had been parked, the prisoners were kept aboard until another chartered DC3 was made available some time later. The flight was resumed in the substitute craft.

DV School Audit Completed

Last In a Series

HARRISBURG— The Auditor General recently completed the audit of Delaware Valley Joint School District, Pike County, consisting of five school districts. Copies of the report were forwarded to Gov. David Lawrence and the jointure.

The five districts in the jointure are Delaware Township, Dingmans Township, Matamoras Borough, Milford Independent, and Westfall Township school districts, all in Pike County.

The audit report showed that expenditures from the General Fund for the school year ending June 30, 1958 aggregated $354,102,81, and state reimbursement and subsidies receivable during the school year ending June 30, 1959 totaled $8,398.19.

Over-Expended

In the auditors comparison of budgeted and actual expenditures it was revealed that the budget was over-expended both as to particular items and in total. The auditor general recommended that when transfers of unexpected balances and additional or increased appropriations are necessary that the school code be complied with.

Compliance was also recommended that a fiscal year begin on the first Monday in July in each year be adopted as stated in the school code.

In the review of cash expenditures it was revealed that entries were transcried in the cash journal in non-permanent form. The recommendation was made that the books of account be written in permanent form and that the correction be made by striking out the incorrect entries and the correction explained and initialed.

Recommendations

It was indicated that certain recoveries, in cash receipts, were included as non-revenue receipts. The auditor general recommended that these recoveries be posted as reductions of the applicable expenses.

Three correct or improved procedures were recommended upon further review of the cash receipts. They were: responsible and accurate classification in the posting of cash journal entries; handling of fiscal year-end transactions so that monies received and paid can be recorded in the period in which a transaction actually occurred.

The third improvement was the retention of worksheets used in preforming reconciliation of books to bank accounts.

The members of the jointure board during this period were Ross Kleinstuber, Ernest Gastmeyer, Dr. Jack S. Bullock, Henrietta Pennell, W. Rolland Shannon, Leonard Snyder and Margaret M. Armstrong.

D&H Given Notice Okay

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Delaware & Hudson Railroad was authorized Thursday to discontinue pickup and delivery by truck at its Olyphant Station in Lackawanna County on 10 days' notice.

The Public Utility Commission approved the proposal and lifted the suspension which it had ordered to allow time for investigation of the proposal.

The commission said its inquiry showed there had been a steady decline in use of the service accompanied by mounting cost.

Boroug' officials and merchants sought retention of the service primarily as an inducement for industrial development.

Dear Abby

Lose Her---But Quick

Dear Abby: Since I moved near my sister-in-law my life has been a nightmare. I pack three lunches and say goodbye to my family at 8:20 a.m., and before I can turn around, here she comes with her two boys, 3 and 4. She sits down and starts yaking while the boys amuse themselves skating on my floors and arranging the furniture so they can jump from one piece to another.

This morning I had to call a plumber to fix the toilet after they flushed a rubber doll, some plastic boats and four wash cloths down there. They also pulled the thermostat off the wall and cut up some patterns I was saving. The only time their mother shows any sign of disciplining them is when they fight. Then she just hits them over the head with her purse.

I've asked her many times please to phone before she comes (so I can hide) but she says, "I only stay a minute" — then she stays until the 12 o'clock whistle blows and I'm stuck with them for lunch.

How can I get rid of these visits? I don't want her mad at me. When she has it in for someone, she makes up lies and ruins their reputations.

READY FOR STRAIGHT-JACKET

Dear Ready: Don't worry about your reputation — it's your sanity that's important now. Tell her in a friendly way that you can't have morning visitors because you have work to do. If this fails, keep your door locked and put cotton in your ears. "Dropper inners" aren't as easily hurt as you think.

Dear Abby: There are six of us children (all married) in the family and every Christmas we go through the same thing. We have always pitched in to buy our parents one nice gift from all of us. One sister is behind three years for her share and one brother has never put in his share. We would rather buy one nice gift than six cheaper ones. None of us are poor. What do you suggest?

TREASURER

Dear Treasurer: Six less expensive gifts would be just as much appreciated as one large expensive one. Next time, each select his own.

Dear Abby: May I give "Afraid of the Dark" a word of encouragement? There were nine of us children and I was the only one who was afraid of the dark. I was frightened so bad that cold sweat would run down my back. No one could convince me that there was nothing to be afraid of. I was fortunate in that my parents never laughed at me. Instead, they let me sleep with a small light in my bedroom. I am 74 and still do.

Boy Hits Home On Muscular Dystrophy Drive

A BOY beaming in the confines of his wheel chair hit home last night as community fund chairmen staked their full support of the march on muscular dystrophy during a spirited kickoff meeting in Lehighton Municipal building.

The pressing need to halt the progress of muscular dystrophy was vividly exemplified by the presence of Jimmy Baird, 14-year-old East Stroudsburg boy who reigns as the 1960 poster boy in Carbon, Monroe and Schuylkill counties.

A thunderous response in the all-out effort to battle muscular dystrophy echoed as Police Chief Williard Steigerwalt of Palmerton, head of the financial appeal in the three-county area for the second successive year, cited the urgency of the muscular dystrophy problem.

"It is an act of humanity to help these terribly afflicted persons," he said.

Supports Research

No cure or effective treatment has yet been found for the malady which cripples its victims by progressively destroying muscle tissue, the drive chairman pointed out. The disease can strike anyone, regardless of age or sex, he said.

Chief Steigerwalt explained that the funds raised in the doorbell drive will be used by MDAA to support its extensive research program which includes the advance study of the disease at the recently built Institute of Muscle Disease in New York City.

Locally, its aim is to implement MDAA's patient service program by helping to defray expenses of wheel chairs, braces, hospital beds, lifts and other mechanical devices.

"Among our Thanksgiving blessings," Steigerwalt declared, "we can count the many great advances medicine has made against other lethal diseases. Perhaps our campaign to support research into muscular dystrophy will be a crucial factor in the conquest of this tragic disease."

The drive, which is sponsored by the Carbon-Monroe Chapter, MDAA, is part of a nationwide effort in which hundreds of thousands of marchers will participate, culminating locally in a door to door appeal next week.

Area Chairmen

John Baird and Oscar Barry, chairmen in East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg, respectively, conferred with chapter officials to iron out final details for the coming campaign here.

Jimmy, the poster boy, beamed throughout the proceedings from his wheel chair. Fred Ward Sweitzer, Lehighton, chapter president, referred to the boy as the symbol of the plight of MD victims throughout the area. "His smiling face and helpless figure should be compelling reasons for residents of the three counties to give strong support to the 1960 Thanksgiving season march on muscular dystrophy, Sweitzer said.

A $10,000 goal has been set for this year's drive, the third undertaken by the chapter. In its first march, $4,900 was collected through contribution organizations, house to house solicitations and canister collections. Last year, through the same means, nearly $7,000 was raised.

Church Head In Africa Will Speak

THE RT. REV. Richard Ambrose Reeves, Anglican Bishop of Johannesburg, South Africa, will speak at the Cathedral Church of the Nativity, Bethlehem, on Monday, Nov. 21 at 8 p.m. The meeting is open to the public.

Attention of all Christendom has focused on Bishop Reeves since September when deportation by South Africa made him the symbol of religious opposition to apartheid.

Bishop Reeves is native to the land whose racial policies he opposes. Born in Johannesburg in 1899, he was educated at Cambridge University in England and at The General Theological Seminary in New York City. Active in college work, he later became rector of churches in Scotland and in Liverpool.

Emphasized Evangelism

Becoming Bishop of Johannesburg in 1949, he emphasized evangelism in his diocese. He soon became a spokesman for the Anglican Church in South Africa against legislation requiring segregation in the Churches, calling this law "an affront to the Christian conscience." When 69 Negroes were victims of police bullets last March at Sharpville, South Africa, Bishop Reeves was outspoken in his criticism of the government. Later last spring he left South Africa to avoid arrest in the state of emergency that developed. Returning in September, he was seized by the government and deported within forty-eight hours. This action centered world attention on South African racial policy.

Bishop Reeves is in the United States to address the meeting of the House of Bishops of the Episcopal Church at Dallas, Texas. Bishop Warnecke, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Bethlehem, is responsible for bringing Bishop Reeves to Bethlehem. He will speak also at a meeting of the diocesan clergy on Tuesday.

Virginia Head Nixes Clemency

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., has refused to grant executive clemency to Clyde Raymond Near, convicted for the death of Barry Steele Chapman in 1958.

Chapman of York County, Pa., was a young counselor at the Beaumont School for Boys in Powhatan County.

In a letter to Near's attorney Wednesday, Almond said Near was ably defended in a fair and impartial trial.

He said testimony and evidence "negates any rational concept of self defense."

He said the State Supreme Court has viewed the conviction and found no error.

THE BETTER LIFE

Your telephone company illustrates a basic truth about social progress

Everybody wants more and better schools, parks, libraries, recreational facilities—all the things that make for social progress and help each person live a rewarding and useful life.

But social progress, whether supported privately or by government, costs money.

Government spending for social progress is made possible by business and industry, through the taxes they pay and the jobs they create for people whose earnings are taxed. And everyone's income, directly or indirectly, stems from business and industry.

The bill for stepped-up social progress can best be met through growth in the economy.

This is a firm principle of the American system.

Your telephone company is a striking example of how the principle works. America's total economic growth equals the sum of the growth of individual businesses. And how we have grown!

In 1900 there were 46,000 Pennsylvania Bell telephones. By 1930 the number had increased to 1,212,000 and today there are more than 4,300,000. From a business operated by just a few people, we have grown to one that offers steady work at good pay for more than 33,000 men and women.

Let's get a little basic about this growth.

From the start, we have provided a useful service at a price people could afford.

So our business grew, and people invested in it. Their money helped us expand so that more and more families could have telephone service . . . and so that we were able to offer more and more jobs at good wages and under good working conditions. The result has been that government has received greater and greater tax revenues both from us and our employees.

To meet Pennsylvania's communications needs over the next five years we will have to spend over a half billion dollars. Much of this money must come from investors. It will, too . . . if our earnings are what they should be.

Adequate earnings are the key to business growth, a higher standard of living, greater individual and corporate tax revenues, and social progress for us all.

Because adequate earnings are so obviously in the public interest, they deserve public encouragement.

The Daily Investor

Par Value Explained

By William A. Doyle

Q. I recently read that several hundred shares of common stock in a certain corporation were being offered to the public at $3 a share. This was described as a new issue. The par value of the stock was listed as 10 cents a share. Wouldn't this indicate that the original stockholders paid 10 cents a share for the stock and then offered it to the public at $3 a share?

A. No. Here again, we run into one of the most often misunderstood things in the world of finance—par value.

Par value means next to nothing, as far as common stocks are concerned. Par value of common stock is simply the dollar amount assigned to each share by the company's charter. It may also be used to figure out the dollar amount of the common shares on the company's balance sheet.

But these are strictly bookkeeping devices. Par value of common stock seldom has any relation to market value.

You mention that this was a "new issue." That means that the company offered the stock (probably through a group of underwriters) to the public. When a new issue is brought to market, the company gets the proceeds from the sale — not the stockholders.

If stockholders offer a large block of stock for sale, it would be called a "secondary distribution." Then, of course, the selling stockholders would get the proceeds from the sale.

Q. The shares of most closed-end investment companies sell in the market at prices below their asset values. I can follow the market values in the daily quotations. How can I learn the daily values of these shares?

A. It's almost impossible. Only a few closed-end investment companies compute the net asset values of their shares every day. Most figure it out once a week. Some will send you that information regularly, by post card, if you request it.

All major closed-end investment companies compute their net asset value per share at least once a month. That information is supplied to various statistical services and should be available to you through brokerage firms.

Q. I invested $1,000 in stock of a small company. The stock is now absolutely worthless. How can I prove this to the Internal Revenue Service?

A. Get a letter from a brokerage firm, stating that there is no bid in any recognized market for the stock and that the stock is worthless.

If you want to establish a tax loss, you are supposed to report the loss for the tax year in which the stock became worthless. However, in the case of worthless securities, claims for a refund or credit as a result of the loss may be filed within seven years.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in nis column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Just Between Us——

—By Bobby Westbrook

If I begin to look haunted it's because I know exactly how the beasts of the jungle feel as the beaters close in in ever-narrowing circle, giving them less and less room for maneuvering. The East Stroudsburg sewer is closing in on me.

First this bolt hole and then that is closed. Oh, sometimes one opens up temporarily but that's just to give me a sense of false security. So far I've been able to keep one line of retreat open but one of these days I'm going to get caught between an open ditch and a bulldozer and the family fare page will come out all over white space.

Sometimes I try the direct approach. I joggle down East Brown St. feeling as if the car had two short wheels, fighting the approaching traffic for the narrow strips of undisturbed pavement. Prospect Street, when it's open, has one-wheel's worth between the gas line and the sewer line. Ridgeway Street is deceptive with its "thank-you-mams" coming without warning.

Somtimes I get crafty: sneaking down the canyon where Smith St. used to be, paddling through the mud in the alley that runs to the college dump and emerging on Normal Street which by now is abnormally bumpy. But no matter which way I go, the bulldozer is there before me.

Whatever do you suppose they've been doing down under there since last June? Putting in snack bars? Or maybe they're like overly-enthusiastic amateur gardeners who keep digging up the seeds they've just planted to see whether they've sprouted.

I'm sure there are perfectly sound engineering reasons why they can't finish up one street and repave it before they start on the next. But three blown tires, a radiator broken from a loose stone that lost all my anti-freeze juice, and a permanent crick in my neck don't put me in the mood to try to figure out why. Maybe it would be simpler just to crawl through the sewers.

Open House Climaxes School Week

Parents of children attending the Clearview School have been in school almost as often as the pupils. Many parents took advantage of Open School Week to visit their children in the classrooms during the school day.

The program was climaxed with a well - attended Open House on Tuesday night. After touring the school and meeting with the teachers, the parents assembled for the regular Parent-Teachers Assn. meeting.

A rummage sale will be held December 1 and 2 at 220 Main St., in Stroudsburg. Rummage will be collected on Nov. 30 from those unable to bring it to the store room.

In the "Who Am I?" contest being conducted at each meeting, two teachers were featured: Mrs. Mabel Shook, first grade; and Miss Florence Bates, fourth grade.

The membership drive now in progress will end in November with prizes of $5 going to each room with 100 per cent enrollment of parents. The money is to be used as the teachers and pupils decide.

A sub-committee of the PTA studying "Juvenile Protection" announced a meeting on November 28 on the question "Do We Have a Problem of Juvenile Delinquency in Our Community?" Anyone interested in joining the study may call Mrs. Betty Lindroth or Mrs. Betty Miller.

The curriculum committee representatives reported on the tour planned to the elementary schools of the district.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by Mrs. Arthur Jensen, Mrs. Paul Miklovich, Mrs. Benton Silver, Mrs. Harriet DeRosa and Mrs. Betty Shiffer.

The program will follow the business meeting of the PTA.

Dear Abby Program For Youth Fellowship Group

Newfoundland — Daily Record columnist Abigail VanBuren and President-Elect John Kennedy came in for their share of attention during the meeting of the Greentown-Newfoundland-South Sterling Youth Fellowship this week.

A panel of teenagers including Diane Eggert, Connie Keiter, Kurt Krieger, Bliss Arneberg and Gerald McLain led a discussion entitled, "Dear Abby." The problems of social behavior as detailed and answered by Abby and other noted columnists were included in the program.

Youth unit members attending first heard the problem read by one of the panelists, and then gave their own answers and suggestions. The answer given by the columnist was read for comparison.

Diane Eggert led the worship service and Jane Beehn was organist for group singing.

The unit approved a golden letter to President-Elect Kennedy, expressing their support in his leadership of the American people. They also voted to write letters to Mrs. Percy Crawford and Mrs. Paul Oliver. The latter is an 80-year-old woman who provides modern, low-cost housing for Negroes.

During the business meeting at which Gerald McLain presided, the group discussed the trip to Scranton on Friday to see Ben Hur. Everyone will meet before 6 p.m. at the Moravian Church and go by bus.

A swimming party at Weston Field in December was discussed and December 7 or 10 were set aside if the pool is available.

The hymn "O Young and Fearless Prophet" was voted as the "official" MYF hymn by the unit upon the suggestion of Douglas Smith.

The unit approved a donation of either $25 cash or the equivalent in needed articles for a branch of Medico.

The MYF will prepare a program detailing its work and will make it available to area organizations who are interested.

The group approved new membership cards eliminating the word "Methodist" and substituting M (for Methodist or Moravian) YF. Rules for membership were also approved as presented by Gerald McLain. Others on the committee were Martin McLain and Douglas Smith.

The next meeting of the MYF will be held on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at South Sterling, when there will be a discussion of the movie Ben Hur. This should prove interesting whether or not each member is able to attend.

Postponed Meeting Sunday

Testing Program Explained To Study Group

The Elementary Curriculum Study Committee met on Wednesday, November 16 at the Arlington Heights School. Due to a change of plan the tour of the schools was postponed until Spring.

Miss Eloise Bryan, psychologist for Stroud Union School District, explained and discussed the testing and follow-up program as applied to our elementary grades. Miss Bryan reports that Stroud Union is unique in the quality of service offered to its students. Under Miss Bryan's direction the Stroud Union School District is one of the few public schools recognized by the American Board of Psychological Services.

Miss Bryan told the group, "The objectives of applied psychology in the system is the 'goal ideal' or total achievement, social and emotional, as well as academic. Since the program has been instituted there is a more uniform performance and less misfit or problem individuals at various levels.

"Another benefit from the present testing program is the establishment of reliable records for the benefit of accurate measurement. Kindergartners are more ready to start after screening and more ready to achieve when they reach first grade. Over a two-year period there have been deferred in the district some fifty children whose readiness testing indicated that they would profit by delaying entrance into kindergarten. Since we have a structural school system which feeds from grade to grade children who must be ready to read, add, spell and think, testing is a vital part of this objective."

Miss Bryan pointed out that public schools are committed to the principle of the "greatest good for the greatest number." This means that the minority must be carefully screened so as to be sacrificed. There is a case history of each child in the district. Binet tests are used pre-school through second grade and Children's Wechsler and Adult Wechsler from third grade through high school.

Finally, Miss Bryan stressed the great importance of gaining and retaining high ethical and spiritual values while attending high intellectual achievement. "Intellect differs from efficiency," she concluded, "since intellect has to do with abstract rather than concrete thinking. The ability to make sound judgments is one which needs to be given an opportunity to develop in the home, as well as in the school environment. Certainly in the whole area of evaluation of our school, promoting the ability to think as a whole individual should be of paramount concern."

Rummage Sale To Benefit Paradise Center

At the recent meeting of the Paradise Community Center held at the Swiftwater Methodists Hall, the committee reviewed the work already accomplished and looked forward to future plans.

A vote of appreciation was given to Peter Rossi who donated the services of his landscape gardener and relandscaped the Community Center grounds with particular attention to the Littel League Babe Ruth baseball field which has been completed and will be ready for use in games in the Spring.

Also acknowledged were the picnic tables made by the men of the area and placed in readiness for use. Electricity is being installed at the field and plans are now being discussed on the type of building needed at the center.

To raise funds, the group decided to hold a rummage sale at the storeroom next to the Grand Theater, East Stroudsburg, on Monday, Nov. 21, from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

June Heydt and Margaret Neison, co-chairmen, ask all residents of the area to bring any food, clean used clothing to Blackwell's Service Station by Sunday afternoon.

Spotlight On School Board At Stroud Union PTA

The first of a series of meetings designed to acquaint parents and taxpayers of the Stroud Union School District with various aspects of education in the district will be held on Monday night. It is an open meeting sponsored by Stroud Union High School Parent-Teachers Assn.

"Let's Get Acquainted with the School Board and its Functions" will be the theme of the meeting on Monday night in the "Know Your School" series. It will take the form of a question box with Harold Hosier serving as moderator.

Answering questions will be Edward Rahn who will discuss the make-up and personalities on the school board; Edward Williams who will answer questions about procedure, legal responsibilities and related subjects; and Herbert Crane who will answer financial questions.

Some of the questions to be discussed are: What is the order and time of district elections to the school board? When is the budget prepared? Is it possible to make any economic savings without sacrificing quality? What are the strengths and weaknesses of state aid? What is the relationship between the athletic council and the school board?

The programs in the series are a new development in community education. Future subjects include "Let's Get Acquainted with the Four Arts": music, physical education, dramatics and public speaking with Mrs. William Howard as chairman in January; "A Graduate Speaks Out," featuring graduates of the school and the report of the evaluation committee by Principal Alfred Munson, with William Clark moderator in March, and at the final meeting "Let's Look at the Ideal High School Curriculum" with Mrs. Robert Hellmann as chairman.

The Wyckoff Shopper
"the friendly store"
A.R. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

Right now there is a pile of shiny paper books on my desk . . . books about Christmas, retailing at 50c and 1.00, which have a tremendous sale at Wyckoff's each year as inexpensive Christmas gifts or, if you prefer, rather expensive Christmas cards. Each one of these books comes with an envelope . . . and there are scores of persons who send them to special friends each year because they are very beautiful, and filled with entertainment, philosophy, poetry and pictorial splendor.

Beginning at the top of the stack, the first is "Christmas Around the World." On its cover is a picture of the inn and the adjacent stable . . . beneath an arched doorway one glimpses the Holy Family, bathed in golden light. In the foreground are the three Wise Men bearing gifts, and at the side, their camels. This is, I think, the only religious picture. The remainder of the book is devoted to drawings of Christmas scenes from Ireland, Germany, Greece, and other lands, including our own United States. Children would find this informative for their school work.

Second is "A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens, showing Tiny Tim being tossed high in the air over his father's shoulder as he swings his cane in happy enthusiasm for Christmas. This is the old classic, faithfully reproduced and lavishly illustrated in color and sketch. Any child old enough to appreciate a good story will be pleased to have it on his bookshelf.

For younger children there is another book called "Jolly Old Santa Claus." On the cover, Santa winks broadly and places his finger aside of his nose, as in "The Night Before Christmas" rhyme. There is a merry, blithe-hearted story between the covers, with Mrs. Santa, the reindeer, the dwarfs, and toys pictured in bright color . . . climaxed, I might add, by that most wonderful of all scenes: Santa's dive down the chimney of what will be, to every tiny listener, HIS or HER own house.

The fourth volume, also 1.00, is of Christmas Stories That Never Grow Old. The first is the Bible story . . . other's are The Juggler of Notre Dame, The Man Who Brought the Myrrh . . . The Gift of the Magi . . . The First Christmas Tree . . . The Gifts of the Wise Men . . . Virginia's letter to the editor of the New York Sun . . . The Little Match Girl . . . and such poems as The Night Before Christmas. A very fine collection for anyone who gives readings at Christmas time.

Next, of course, is the Christmas Ideals, available in two sizes . . . 50c and 1.00. The cover is cheery with poinsettias and candles, and the contents include religious and secular art, paintings and pictures, stories and verses.

At the bottom of the pile . . . last because of its size, but certainly not because of its quality, is the CHRISTMAS ANNUAL. This is 1.25, and worth every cent. The cover is a soft, dull green with a light tracing of Biblical characters. The big center illustration shows the Holy Family painted in a very contemporary, though realistic, manner. The articles are splendid . . . one on Denmark's Christmas spoons which will interest spoon collectors . . . another on Christmas treasures in America's art galleries . . . still another on America's very own Christmas story. The annual also contains a "tapestry" of Christmases around the world, delightful poems . . . everything. It's lovely.

So there you are . . . now see them for yourselves. They're all an excellent buy, for yourself or your friends.

Big Group Gets Control Of Washington Club

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A 10-man group headed by Elwood Quesada, administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency, Thursday night was awarded the new Washington franchise in the American League.

Joe Cronin, American League president, also announced that the league had adopted a plan for stocking the two new clubs with 28 players each.

Each American League team will present a list by noon Friday of 15 players, seven of whom must have been on the active roster Aug. 31, 1960. All must have been on the 40-man rosters when frozen by Commissioner Ford Frick Nov. 7. Each club will lose seven men for a total of 56 to be divided between the two new clubs.

Draw Lots

The two new clubs will draw lots to see which will get first pick. One team will take four men, the other three. Then they will alternate until each has 28.

Ten of the players must be pitchers, 2 catchers, 6 infielders and 4 outfielders. The other 6 men may be any position needed.

In addition to this stock piling plan, each of the new clubs will get two draft selections from the minor leagues after the regular player draft Nov. 28 at Louisville. No first-year man can be taken and no more than one from any one club. This provision, which needed minor league assent, was approved by mail vote of the minors and majors earlier this month.

Each of the two new clubs will have until midnight Nov. 20 to select its 28 players. The price of each is set at $75,000. Each must take the 28 men making a total investment of $2.1 million by each club plus two more at $25,000 each in the minor league draft for a player total of $2.15 million.

The 28 players from the American League and two more from the minors will give each club 30 men after the Nov. 28 draft. In addition, each of the new teams will be permitted to pick one more player from each American League club's farm system for the usual selection price of $25,000.

No Action

Cronin said no action was taken on the Los Angeles situation "in view of the position of the commissioner." Cronin added, "It is necessary to clarify the situation before taking action."

Frick said Wednesday he would insist on a "fair and equitable" amendment to the territorial rule before he would permit a second club to move into either Los Angeles or New York.

Hank Greenberg, Chicago White Sox vice president, has decided not to go into the Los Angeles club. Cronin said Greenberg planned to retain his substantial stock holdings in the White Sox.

Cronin said bids will be entertained for the Los Angeles franchise as was done in the case of Washington.

Greenberg Out

"We expect to operate in Los Angeles, in 1961, subject to the commissioner's clarification," said Cronin. "We are entertaining bids for the franchise.

"No party connected with any American League club is interested in Los Angeles. Greenberg definitely will not get the franchise in Los Angeles."

Cronin said he did not know if any bidders for Los Angeles would appear at Friday's meeting. He said several people are interested.

Pittman's 65 Leads Tour Golf Event

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Former collegiate star Jerry Pittman shot a six-under-par 65 Thursday and took the lead in the first round of the $15,000 Cajun Classic Golf Tournament.

While the 23-year-old Pittman, who was a Southwest Conference golf champ at Southern Methodist, was blazing the way, defending champion Billy Casper came in with a 70.

Pittman, from Tulsa, Okla., has been out of the money in his last six starts, dating back more than three months.

Five Grouped

Five were grouped at 67, including Frank Boynton of Orlando, Fla., Jay Hebert of Lafayette, Jon Gustin of Gladwyne, Pa., Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., and Frank Stranahan of Crystal River, Fla.

Frank Wharton of Dallas, Tex., and Bobby Nichols of Midland, Tex., were grouped at 68 with Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, and Harold Kneece of Aiken, S.C.

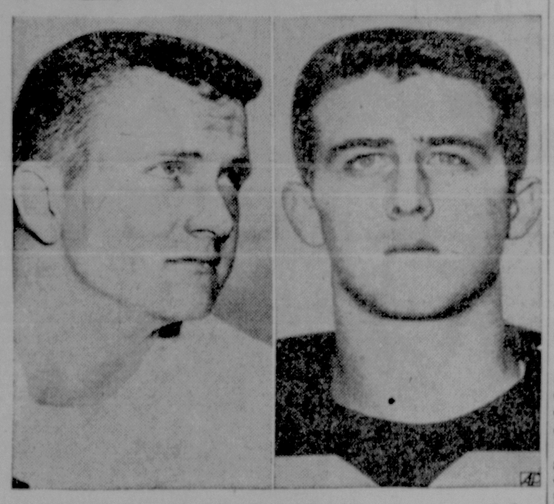
One Game On High Grid Slate

Only one area high school football game is scheduled this weekend, Pius X at Phillipsburg Parochial Sunday.

East Stroudsburg High and Stroud Union play Thanksgiving morning and Bangor and Pen Argyl meet Thanksgiving afternoon at Bangor. Nazareth and Wilson Boro will decide the Lehigh Northampton title also on Thanksgiving.

Phillipsburg Parochial is unbeaten in eight games this year, while Pius X has lost only to Notre Dame of Green Pond, 6-0. The two teams have played two common opponents, Belvidere, N. J., and Lansdale Catholic.

Both teams hold wins over Belvidere and Lansdale but Parochial's triumphs were much more convincing. It rapped Belvidere 32-7 and Lansdale 25-7. Pius beat Belvidere 14-7 and Lansdale 7-0.



WEEK'S TOPS IN FOOTBALL—Ed Dyas, left, Auburn's record-setting field goal kicker, was named Associated Press Back of the Week, Nov. 15, for his pressure kicks in Auburn's 9-6 victory over Georgia Nov. 12. Gary Collins, Maryland end, right, was named Lineman of the Week Nov. 16 in a poll of Associated Press writers and broadcasters.

Terp End Named Top AP Lineman

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—"He can do everything and does it well," Maryland football Coach Tom Nugent says of his end, Gary Collins.

His sure-fingered pass catching puts him on a par with any offensive end. But he also has blocked punts and field goals, intercepted passes and kicked the ball himself in standout style.

A touchdown pass he caught with 65 seconds to play for a 22-19 victory over North Carolina last Saturday earned him lineman of the week in The Associated Press poll.

Defensive Fits

Before that payoff catch, the junior from Williamstown, Pa., had given North Carolina fits on defense. In a goal line stand by Maryland he made three of four tackles. Another time he reeled off five straight tackles.

"I don't think it was my best game," deprecated the tall 208-pounder.

What was?

"Clemson, I guess."

He played for only five minutes in that game and couldn't punt because of a sore hip. But his pass catching set up the first Maryland touchdown and he carried another in for the deciding score in a 19-17 victory.

Grid Fixer Found Guilty

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Aaron Wagman of New York was convicted Thursday of bribing Florida fullback Jon Macbeth to limit the points in a football game.

Judge John A. H. Murphree gave the defense 15 days to ask a new trial and said he will rule on that motion and if denied will sentence the 27-year-old souvenir salesman Dec. 1.

Cards Sign Williamsport

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, after a lapse of one year, will have a working agreement in the Eastern League during the 1961 baseball season.

League President Thomas H. Richardson said Thursday an agreement would be signed between the Cardinals and the Lancaster Red Roses. The Lancaster club had an affiliation with the Chicago Cubs during the 1960 season.

The Cardinals' last agreement was with York in 1959.

Basketball Coach Frank McGuire of North Carolina, who doesn't smoke, relieves tension during games by munching candy drops.

Late Score Shifts "840" Pin Line-up

A LAST minute score has changed the lineup slightly for Sunday's "840 Classic" match.

Calls from bowlers indicated that a missing card contained scores higher than those reported.

Here is the new and final list of bowlers who will appear Sunday: Walter Straub, Stroudsburg, 649; Sam Strunk, Analomink, 641; Randy Morris, Stroudsburg, 626, and Jake Nittel, East Stroudsburg, 616.

Jake is back for a second try at the semi-finals. His first try on October 23rd resulted in a nine pin loss to Dr. Gail Fegley. This Sunday's match will be started at 12:45 p.m. instead of the usual 1 p.m.

Army hockey star Tom Carroll of Burrillville, R.I., also is a member of the West Point astronomy and camera clubs.

Detroit Tigers' right hander Frank Lary has a 21-6 lifetime record against the New York Yankees.

NO TRESSPASSING

The grounds of the MONROE BEAGLE CLUB, INC. will be patrolled during hunting season. All violators will be prosecuted.

Wolslayer, Brown Get Bowl Bids

EAST STROUDSBURG State College co-captains Dick Wolslayer and Sterling Brown have been selected to play in the Gem City Football Bowl, Thanksgiving Day.

The bowl, for seniors only, is played in Erie. This is the third year for the event.

A third Warrior lineman, Jake Piatt, was chosen as an alternate for the game, which will be played between Eastern and Western All-star teams of Pennsylvania and neighboring state college players.

Wolslayer and Brown will play for the East team, which will be coached by Bill Miller, Detroit University coach, while Ara Paraseghian, Northwestern coach, will handle the Western team.

Other Players

Most of the players will come from Pennsylvania schools with Ohio State and Syracuse, if it does not accept a bowl bid, also sending players. Penn State and Pitt will also send representatives, providing the teams do not go to a post-season game. More than 30 schools are expected to have players in the game.

Warrior coach Jack Gregory made the announcement of the selections at a dinner for the East Stroudsburg football team at the college dining hall last night.

Gregory also announced the results of the voting for the three football awards.

Wolslayer was selected as the outstanding player, Fred O'Connor, received the "Red Shirt" award and Walt Snyder got the "Coaches" award.

The Red Shirt award is given to the player who through his spirit and determination contributed to the team, while the Coaches' award goes to the player who is considered the "most improved."

First Picked

Wolslayer, a center and linebacker, and Brown, a guard, will be the first East Stroudsburg grid players to play in a post-season event. Fullback John Brunner was selected as an alternate for the bowl last year but turned down a chance to play.

Wolslayer and Brown report to the bowl's training camp Monday. They will receive travel expense money and a souvenir from the bowl.

Some 35 graduates of the bowl have been given an opportunity to play pro ball.

Penn State May Try Air Against Panthers Saturday

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa.—With few teams able to run against muscle-bound Pittsburgh this season, Penn State may go airborne in its game with the Panthers Saturday.

Sharp as they were, however, against Holy Cross last Saturday, Lion quarterbacks Galen Hall and Dick Hoak must improve if they hope to find any chinks in Pitt's defensive secondary.

"We must guard against interceptions," warns coach Rip Engle in noting that 11 State passes have been stolen this season. "Pitt converted interceptions into touchdowns against Notre Dame, Syracuse and Army."

Top Tosser

Hoak is Penn State's most effective passer. Against Holy Cross, the Jeannette senior completed six of seven for 174 yards and a touchdown. Through eight games he owns a 56.1 completion percentage on 23 strikes in 43 attempts. He has thrown for 386 yards and four TDs and has had three intercepted.

Hall, the starter, has completed 36 of 86 for 395 yards and four touchdowns. Five of his have been intercepted.

Hoak leads the team in total offense. In addition to his air yards, he owns 260 rushing yards with a 4.5 average.

Groat National MVP

By DAVID A. LEHERR

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Last December, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Kansas City Athletics got together for a possible trade. The talks involved swapping Pittsburgh's shortstop Dick Groat for slugger Roger Maris of the A's.

After one of the sessions, General Manager Joe L. Brown and Manager Danny Murtaugh of the Pirates seemed almost ready to wrap up the deal. They returned to their hotel room in Miami Beach to talk it over.

"But as soon as Danny and I closed the door, we looked at each other and frowned—right away we knew we didn't like it," Brown recalled Thursday.

The deal was called off.

Both Honored

Thursday, Groat was named the National League's most valuable player. About a week ago, Maris, now with the New York Yankees, achieved the same distinction in the American League.

Groat, who led the Pirates to their first pennant in 33 years and their first world championship in 35 years, won the MVP award in a landslide.

He got 16 of the 22 first place ballots cast by a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America for 276 points to beat out teammate Don Hoak. The Buc third-sacker placed second with 162 points.

Willie Mays of San Francisco polled 115 points for third place and Chicago's Ernie Banks, winner of the award in the last two years, was fourth with 100 points.

The balding, 30-year-old infielder from nearby Swissvale, became the first Pirate player to capture the MVP award since the baseball writers took over the selection in 1931.

Pauls Wins Pin Event At Harmon's

JEAN and Dane Paul won the recent mixed doubles handicap bowling tournament at Harmon's Recreation.

Lena and Ted Dippre and Mary Geeman and Ted Hoffman tied for second. Other winners in order of finish were Jean and Larry Dildine, Loretta Gallagher and Harold Staples, Glendora Snyder and Henry Michael, Doris and Bob Fellencer, Donna Stout and Stanley Boorstein and Ann and John Baird.

The top single out of the money was posted by Nancy Konawalik and Don Hartman, while Jo Harris and Okay Stuckey had the high triple out of the money. Other out of the money awards went to Ann Schimmel, ladies high single; Helen Bobby, ladies high triple; Babe Miller, men's high single and Don Kinsley, men's high triple.

Title Details Near Finish

NEW YORK (AP)—Dewey Fragetta, New York fight booking agent, said Thursday he has virtually closed deals for a third Duilio Loi-Carlos Ortiz junior welterweight title fight and for a non-title appearance by lightweight champion Joe Brown in Milan, Italy.

Fragetta said both fights would be held in Milan's Sports Palace, which seats 15,000, under the promotion of Vittorio Strumolo.

"The Loi-Ortiz fight is about set for Jan. 26," said Fragetta.

Brown will meet Italian Giordano Campara in a non-title 10-rounder Dec. 3.

Two Young Fighters Meet For Share Of Bantam Title

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two young fighters, Eloy Sanches of Mexico and Eder Jofre of Brazil, who between them have fought but 72 matches, clash Friday night for a piece of the world bantamweight title.

Slated for 15 rounds in the Olympic Auditorium, the contest is expected to attract around 10,000 fans and the winner will be recognized by the National Boxing Association as king of the 118-pounders.

The victor, in turn, has agreed to fight Alphonse Halimi of French Algeria, who is now recognized in Europe as the titleholder.

Title Vacated

The title was vacated last summer by Mexico's Jose Becerra, who won the then undisputed crown by knocking out Halimi here in July, 1958.

Becerra retired after the little-known Sanchez belted him out in the eighth round in Mexico last Aug. 18 in a non-title scrap.

Halimi regained prestige and the European crown when he beat Freddie Gilroy of Ireland in London recently.

Jofre is rated the No. 1 contender and will be about a 10-7 favorite at ringside.

The match goes on soon after 9 p. m., EST. There is no radio nor television broadcast in the United States.

Jofre has scored 26 knockouts in his 37 matches, has three draws and has not been defeated.

Sanchez has knocked out six opponents in his 35 fights, all of them in Mexico. He has been beaten 11 times. He lost three of them on technical knockouts.

Patriots Meet Dallas Tonight

BOSTON (AP) — Suddenly revived Boston and swift, powerful Dallas tangle Friday night in an American Football League game that is vital to both.

Each must have it to keep alive their faltering hopes for a division title. Dallas is 5-4, and trails Western leader Los Angeles (6-3) by one game. Boston is 4-5 and is two back of Eastern boss Houston (6-3).

Their match is the only AFL action Friday. Denver visits Houston and Buffalo is at Los Angeles in Sunday afternoon affairs. Oakland and New York have an open date.

Several High Conference Titles At Stake Saturday

By FRED WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—A couple of conference titles will be decided this weekend in an otherwise light Pennsylvania high school football schedule.

These appear to be the best among the less than three dozen games on the card:

East:

Neshaminy over Bensalem—Neshaminy has outclassed all its Bux-Mont opponents so far and has been tied only by Easton. Each has a 7-0 league record going into this finale.

West Scranton over Blakely—West Scranton, unbeaten and untied, shoots for another East Penn Northern Dvision title.

Midstate:

Berwick Picked

Berwick over Milton — Berwick would like to add the Susquehanna Valley to its East Penn Southern Division and Keystone Conference trophies; Milton could be tough.

Coal Twp. over Danville—Now that Coal's unbeaten season has been ruined by Berwick, it looks to rebound against a sliding Danville team.

Lancaster over York—The Tornadoes are supposed to be smarting from a crack about "backing into" the Central Penn title; a victory here would give them a perfect league record.

West:

Pittsburgh North Catholic over Boys Town, Neb.—An annual charity game, picked on the basis of North's perfect record this season.

Erie Prep over Erie Academy—Reversing the outcome of their early October game in this Erie County Big Seven title playoff.

The others:

Friday:

GAR Favored

East—Philadelphia Roxborough over Philadelphia Box, Philadelphia Dobbins over Philadelphia Mastbaum, Malvern over St. Joseph's Prep, Darby over Eddystone, Bristol over Levittown, Tunkhannock over Lackawanna Trail, Wilkes-Barre GAR over Larksville, Plains over Nanticoke.

Midstate — Shippensburg over Hanover, Carlisle over Mechanisburg.

Saturday:

East — Abington over Cheltenham, Pennsbury over Delhaas, Springfield (Montco) over Ambler, Allentown Dieruff over Allentown Catholic, Pittston St. Johns over Luzerne.

Midstate — Steelton over Lebanon, Bald Eagle-Nittany over Montgomery, South Williamsport over Muncy.

Sunday

East — Reading Catholic over Shenandoah Catholic, Chester St. James over Philadelphia St. Thomas More.

Midstate—Mount Carmel Catholic over Marian Catholic.

(Last week: 44 right, 13 wrong 4 ties, .772 season: 391-135-35, .743)

Court Orders Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—A U.S. District Court judge has granted an injunction ordering world welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret, of Cuba to defend his title next against former champion Don Jordan.

What effect the order will have on the scheduled title bout between Paret and Argentina's Federico Thompson at Madison Square Garden Dec. 10 was not known immediately.

The court order enjoining Paret from any fight until he meets Jordan was granted Tuesday by Judge Alexander Bicks.

Parent won the title by outpointing Jordan, of Los Angeles, in 15 rounds at Las Vegas, May 27, 1960.

Braves, Yanks Discuss Trades

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves have discussed trades but they are reported far apart. The talks may be resumed at a later date.

"They want infielders," said Roy Hamey, new general manager of the Yankees Wednesday. "We want pitchers. But we have a good ball club and we are not going to break it up to gamble on an extra pitcher. The price McHale (John McHale, Milwaukee general manager) sets is too high."

Ditka Closes Brilliant Pitt Career Against Penn State

By MURRAY CHASS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—About an hour and a half before the Pitt-Penn State game starts Saturday, No. 89 will pull a blue and gold jersey over his head for the last time.

He won't say anything, but he'll pace back and forth between benches and lockers. Most of his teammates will be stretched out relaxing — but not Mike Ditka, Pitt's team captain and end.

"I get real nervous. I can't sit down," he says. "I can keep quiet, but I can't keep my hands and legs still. I get butterflies, not as bad as I used to but I still get them.

"But once we go out on the field and do our calesthenics, I'm okay. Then I start thinking about what I'm going to do in the game."

Wants Pro

Ditka is anxious to take a crack at professional football. If he does succeed in the pro circles, it most likely will be on defense.

"I imagine they'll use me on defense in the pros if I put on some weight," the 6-3, 215-pound Ditka offered. "I can get up around 225 or 230.

"I have no preference about which team I play for. But I don't want someone to draft me if they won't use me. I think I'd like to play in the National League. It's more of a challenge. If you can make it there, you've got it."

Good Attitude

Pitt coach Johnny Michelosen doesn't doubt that Ditka will succeed in professional football. He says:

"Mike is a tremendous football player—one of the best I've had the privilege of coaching. He has the greatest attitude for football of any kid."

For lack of a Pitt passing attack, Ditka this season has earned the reputation of being a vicious defensive end rather than a pass-catching offensive threat. It was for his defensive play that he was named Associated Press Lineman of the Week after Pitt's 10-0 upset of Syracuse.

Slater Coach Calls 1960 Team Best

COACH David Prichard rates his current Bangor High School football team as one of the finest groups of young players he has run across in his 14 years of high school coaching.

"They're terrific," he told Bangor Exchange Club members and their guests at the annual dinner honoring the varsity squad at the Blue Valley Farm Show building last night.

"Win, lose or draw on Thanksgiving Day, if they play then as hard as they have all season, I'll be mighty proud of them. They've shown a real love for the game and lots of guts even in the games they have lost," Prichard told the more than 100 persons attending the dinner.

Gregory Speaks

Something of the same spirit was expressed by the speaker of the evening, coach Jack Gregory, of East Stroudsburg State College grid team. He sighted five major points to be learned from athletic contests particularly football. They include self discipline, rewards of hard work, self confidence, the ability to bounce back from defeat, and the benefits of personal faith.

Coach Gregory was accompanied by two of his team's leading players, Bill Race, halfback, and Maurice Barber, end.

Isaiah Resh, ardent Bangor sportsman, unveiled his new "Ike" Resh trophy. The third of which he has donated to the winners of the Thanksgiving Day Game.

In order to retire the trophy it must be won three consecutive years.

Bangor retired the second trophy last year with its 20-0 triumph. The first trophy was retired by Pen Argyl after it see-sawed back and forth for 10 years.

Knights Won First

Frederick Baker, club president, welcomed those attending last night, and Wilson Jackson acted as master of ceremonies.

The following members of the Bangor coaching staff were introduced: Dale Baker, Jack Finelli and Lewis Guida, Dr. R. W. Fritzsche, team physician and Dr. Trevor Williams, school principal.

Scheduling Hopes Took Dive

HOPES OF scheduling Allentown-Bethlehem area colleges by East Stroudsburg State in basketball got a severe jolt this week.

The Warriors topped both Lafayette and Lehigh in game-type scrimmages and the bigger schools won't put East Stroudsburg on their schedules until they are sure they can take the Normal Hillers.

Only one side of bleachers was set-up for Wednesday night's scrimmage against Lehigh at Normal Hill. But they were soon filled and much of the over-flow crowd of 700 had to stand. It was probably one of the largest crowds ever to watch a Warrior hoop scrimmage.

Dick Luce's team opens its season Dec. 3 at home against Paterson. The Warriors will play six games before they break for their Christmas vacation. This year's schedule includes a three-day road trip, with stops on consecutive nights at Shippensburg, Bowie, Md. and Cheyney.

Warriors Set Travel Record

The Warrior football team set a travel record last Saturday in its game at Indiana. It was the first time a Pennsylvania State College Conference team had flown to a league game. Last year East Stroudsburg flew to Waynesburg for a non-conference game.

West Chester and Lock Haven meet Saturday at Lock Haven for the conference football title, with West Chester a heavy favorite.

And Doc Daugherty, the Indiana backfield coach, who was Rip Engle's first captain at Penn State, says that his team played it's best game in four years when it beat East Stroudsburg 20-7.

The Pleasant Valley High School will have blue and white school colors and will be nick-named the "Bears."

Terps Near Winning Season

If the University of Maryland beats Virginia Saturday and they are heavily favored to do it, it will be the first winning season the Terps have had since 1955, when they were unbeaten and played in the Orange Bowl.

Last year Maryland was picked to win one game and they won five. This season the Terps were picked to win two games by the pre-season magazines and a win Saturday would give them a 6-4 record.

Virginia has the longest losing streak in major college football, 25 games. But the Cavaliers are leading the Atlantic Coast Conference in rushing offense with an average of 216.6 yards per game and are only three yards behind the conference leader in total offense.

Penn State To Play Miami

Penn State will begin football relations with Miami of Florida next season. The game will be played in Miami's Orange Bowl.

Miami is one of the few schools playing football that has trouble getting away games. All the teams want to play in the Orange Bowl, where a crowd of 30,000 is considered small.

Maryland played Miami for four straight years in the Orange Bowl and netted more money from the one game than from all the other road trips.

NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Monroe County, Pennsylvania, No. 137, September Term, 1960.

TO: J. L. Jenson and Helen L. Jenson, his wife; Joseph A. Stotz; Jacob A. Trexler; Eugene H. Leverling; Peter H. Kresge; Lewis Anthony and Daniel Anthony, Administrators of the Estate of John Anthony, deceased; John Anthony; Mahlon Shupp; and their respective heirs, administrators, executors, successors or assigns.

TAKE NOTICE that Layton W. Milman has filed a complaint in the said Court to the above number and term in an Action to Quiet Title to premises situate in Chestnuthill Township, Monroe County, Pa., containing 117.5 perches, more or less, and being the same premises which Sarah E. In said complaint it is substantially alleged that the chain of title of said premises includes recorded deeds from all of the above named persons for the same tract, containing 117.5 perches, more or less; that various changes in the description have occurred, that the intention of all parties was always to convey the entire tract as described in a deed from Jeremiah Hufsmith, et ux., dated December 29, 1872, and recorded in the aforementioned Recorder's Office in Deed Book Vol. 21, Page 329, that the present adjoining owners do not claim any land within the physical lines of the tract, and praying the Court to decree that the correct description of plaintiff's premises is as appears in the last mentioned deed, to wit:

ALL that certain lot or parcel of land situate in the Township of Chestnuthill, County of Monroe and State of Pennsylvania, bounded and described as follows, to wit:

BEGINNING at a stone of the south side of the Easton and Wilkes-Barre Turnpike; thence, by land now or late of Felix Storm, South nine and one-half degrees East thirty-three and seven tenths perches to a stone; thence by land late of Oscar Rodenbabh, North eighty degrees West four and twenty-two one-hundredths perches to a stone; thence, by the same, North nine and one-half degrees West thirty-three perches to a post on the south side of the Easton and Wilkes-Barre Trunpike; thence, along said turnpike, South seventy-six and one-half degrees East three and fifty-six one-hundredths perches to the place of BEGINNING. CONTAINING 117.5 perches, more or less.

THEREFORE, you are notified to appear and file an answer to the said Complaint within twenty (20) days after the last publication of this notice.

RE-ENACT SLAYINGS—Chester Otis Weger, 21, in light shirt, stands with Sheriff Ray Eutsey during re-enactment of slaying of the wives of three Chicago businessmen in Starved Rock State Park, Ill., last March. Ex-Dishwasher Admits Killing Three Women

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—A stocky ex-dishwasher confessed Thursday that he bludgeoned three women to death last spring in a canyon of Starved Rock State Park.

The slayings first were admitted by Chester Otto Weger, 21, of nearby La Salle, in a semihysterical, sobbing confession. Then afterward, showing almost exuberant relief, he re-enacted the killings of last March.

They happened, he said, because his victims wouldn't cooperate in his attempt to rob them.

In a series of swift moves to wind up the eight-month-old case, evidence against Weger was presented to a grand jury late Thursday.

Authorities said the web of accusing circumstances had been closing around Weger for many weeks. He had worked in Starved Rock State Park Lodge at the time of the slayings.

11 Counts

In rapid sequence, after Weger began to tell his story between sobs at 1:45 a.m., he was arraigned on three murder charges and eight lesser charges involving other cases.

Then, taken in chains to the state park, he led authorities along St. Louis Canyon, re-enacting the killing of Lillian Oetting, 50; Mildred Lindquist, 50, and Frances Murphy, 47, all wives of business executives who lived in Riverside, a Chicago suburb.

The three women had gone together to the park for a brief holiday on March 14. After lunch at the lodge, they set out for a hike which took them to the canyon, a steep, narrow defile in limestone strata at the park's west edge.

Weger, who has a wife and two small children, told how he spotted the three women in the canyon while on a foray to snatch a purse and get some money.

He approached the women and made a grab for what he thought was a purse. As he tore it from Mrs. Murphy, breaking the strap, he saw that it was a camera. Then, he pleaded with the incensed women to go farther into the canyon and give him a chance to escape.

Tied Together

They finally acceded to the stocky, tousle-haired Weger. But he stalked them, still intent upon robbery. At the closed end of the canyon, he menaced them with a heavy piece of tree limb, then herded them to a small cave and tied them together with twine he had taken from the lodge kitchen.

"I tied them so they wouldn't follow me," he said. But Mrs. Murphy decided to fight him. Apparently, she parted the kitchen twine with her hands.

"When I started back, she came after me on the path," he said. "She hit me on the back of the head with the binoculars. I reached for the club as she hit me, and I turned and struck her on the back of the head."

He carried the unconscious woman back to the cave where the other women, partly free of their bonds, tried to fight him.

"One tried to scratch me. I don't know which one," Weger said. "I'd laid the club down, but I picked it up and hit them so they couldn't identify me. They lay back. I kept striking them."

But Mrs. Murphy, badly injured, got up and fought gamely again.

Clubbed To Death

"She hit me with the binoculars. They broke, and cut my chin," he said. "I grabbed the binoculars and clubbed her. She fell back, and I beat her until I killed her."

He told of feeling the pulses of his victims to make sure they were dead, and then, because he thought a circling plane he saw above the canyon rim might spot the crime, he dragged the women's bodies back into the cave. The death fight took place just outside.

State GOP Not Expected To Ask Statewide Recount

HARRISBURG (AP)—The prospect seemed faint Thursday that the Republican party organization in Pennsylvania would do more than a token job of challenging President-elect John F. Kennedy's 130,000 victory margin.

For one thing, the job would cost no less than $450,000 on a statewide basis, and party coffers are not exactly brimming with cash these days.

National Republican Chairman Thruston Morton issued a suggestion for recounts in the various states last week. This was after unofficial results of the Nov. 8 election showed Kennedy had defeated Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon by one of the barest national margins in history.

Thursday, Pennsylvania GOP Chairman George I. Bloom said:

"We are investigating the situation in Luzerne, Lackawanna, Allegheny, and Philadelphia counties. Just how far we will go is unknown right now, but there will be no general recount throughout the 67 counties."

It costs $50 a precinct to contest an election under Pennsylvania law, payable in advance. There were 9,044 precincts open in the recent election.

This means that if the state Republican organization undertook to challenge the vote in each of those precincts, it would be necessary to put up $452,200 before the recount even started. Wherever fraud is uncovered, the money is reimbursed to the challenging party.

Just to carry on a recount in the four strategic counties Bloom outlined would mean the party would be called upon to post $174,960. There are 3,499 precincts in those populous counties, which include the cities of Pittsburgh, Wilkes-Barre, Philadelphia, and Scranton.

Cuba Rejects American Note

HAVANA (AP)—Cuba rejected Thursday a U.S. Embassy note protesting what the embassy called the Roman circus trial and execution of three Americans seized with an anti-Castro invasion band.

A Cuban reply warned that any future invaders "Who are not left on the field of battle mixing their blood with the dust of our land will face the same revolutionary justice."

Fire In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A fire did heavy damage Thursday night to a three-story auto supply house and smoke seeped into a movie theater next door. About 100 people watching the picture filed out of the Strand Theater at 13th Street and Girard Avenue. No one was injured.

Good Morning!

Kennedy Asks For Report On Situation

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President- elect John F. Kennedy ended his first postelection discussion with his vice president-elect Thursday night and asked for a full report on the grave situation in three Latin American countries.

Kennedy flew to Austin from the ranch of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, then on to Palm Beach, Fla., where it was learned he will ask the chief intelligence officer of the United States, Allen Dulles, for a full report Friday on the situation in Guatemala and Nicaragua plus Costa Rica.

The situation in these three countries led Kennedy to ask Dulles to come down to Palm Beach for the conference. The Dulles invitation was issued before President Eisenhower's action Thursday, it was learned.

Eisenhower dispatched U.S. warships and planes to Nicaragua and Guatemala against possible Communist-inspired attacks.

Kennedy said he and Vice President-elect Johnson, in the 24 hours he spent at Johnson's LBJ Ranch, had a "long and profitable discussion of plans and programs for our administration."

Also in the international field, he said they covered matters expected to arise at a session of NATO parliamentarians in Paris next week. Johnson will be chairman of the U.S. delegation there.

Kennedy and the man he predicted Thursday night will be the most effective vice president in history nunted deer together during the day and worked in talks on farm and other problems during their outing.

It was Kennedy's first deer hunt. He had beginner's luck. He got himself two bucks.

"We also discussed current problems involved in the transition from the present administration to the new administration," Kennedy said.

Body Identified In Wayne County

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP) — State police have tentatively identified the decomposed body of a man found in the woods near here as David O. Jones, of New York City.

He was identified from an income tax W-2 form found on him, state police said.

The body was found Wednesday by Joseph Melcher and Claude Fritch, both of Bally, while hunting near Open Woods Pond in Berlin Township.

State police said there is no evidence of foul play, and there was some speculation he may have died from exposure.

Killed Near Easton

Dependent Separation

Army Acts To Ease Blow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department announced Thursday that the reduction in overseas dependents of military personnel will be carried out with little separation of families now abroad.

This news came a few hours after the Army's civilian boss had seen a threat to the armed forces' combat effectiveness in the reduction order.

Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. said reduction of the total of overseas dependents by about 284,000 will be carried out at the rate of at least 15,000 a month and will start in January. The reduction was ordered Wednesday by President Eisenhower as one of several steps to reduce spending of U.S. dollars overseas.

Gates, in a special message to all commands, said the reduction program can be carried out mainly by having men now overseas return to the United States with their families at the end of their normal tours of duty; returning some with their families before completion of their regular assignments; and reducing the number of dependents sent overseas in the future.

Gates added the dependents program should be carried out without regard to rank or station. He specifically excluded from the program armed forces units in Alaska, Hawaii, the Panama Canal Zone, the Mariannas, Marshalls, Midway, Samoa and Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

In an apparent effort to offset any adverse effect on morale, Gates requested the commanders to give this information the widest possible dissemination.

Earlier in the day, Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker became the first highly placed official to enter any sort of public dissent from this part of Eisenhower's multiphased move against U.S. overseas spending.

Not All Agreed

Brucker saw in the dependent reduction a threat to combat effectiveness, and he expressed sympathy for those affected by it.

Brucker's reaction brought no immediate official comment from the Defense Department or other high administration sources. Some officers disputed his views, however.

Speaking to a military audience at the Army's big Infantry Training Center at Ft. Benning, Ga., Brucker said he felt "much the same as you do" about the order. It ultimately will affect more than half of the approximately 483,000 dependents with servicemen overseas.

Brucker acknowledged the White House directive is an order to be carried out. But he expressed his concern about the impact on morale when he said: "I will do everything in my power to diminish the blow to them (Army families) and to soften the effect on the combat effectiveness and morale of our Army." And he implied he'd make the process for the Army a deliberate one by careful examination of each step before it is taken.

To Protect Against Red Invaders

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower has rushed U.S. Navy warships and air units into position to defend revolt-threatened Guatemala and Nicaragua against any Communist-led attack.

The vacation White House announced the emergency action Thursday in a clear warning to Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro to keep hands off both Central American republics.

The President acted amid mounting tension in the Caribbean after Guatemala and Nicaragua fought off antigovernment revolts and charged Castro with helping the rebels.

Swiftly answering written appeals for help, Eisenhower ordered Navy fleet units, including at least one aircraft carrier, to "seek out and prevent" any outside invasion.

"Our ships are now on the high seas," said press secretary James G. Hagerty who reported Eisenhower's decision.

The State Department said the American naval and air units would operate within the territorial limits of Guatemala or Nicaragua should it become necessary to act against any Communist-directed invasion. Action beyond the three-mile limit will be avoided because it could be considered piracy.

The President's spokesman refused to identify the fleet units sent into the trouble area or to pinpoint their exact location.

In Washington, the Navy said the carrier is the Shangri La which with four destroyers from Mayport, Fla., is patrolling the Caribbean between Cuba and the coast of Central America.

U.S. warships often carry Marines but Hagerty said the warships sent to help Guatemala and Nicaragua did not have any Marine infantry units with them, so far as he knew.

Eisenhower personally ordered the naval move late Wednesday, Hagerty said, after an urgent telephone call from Secretary of State Christian A. Herter in Washington.

Written Requests

Herter advised him that both Guatemala and Nicaragua, alarmed at the possibility of more antigovernment uprising, had sent formal, written requests for U.S. assistance.

Eisenhower then gave his instructions by phone to Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. at the Pentagon.

The President followed this up by a conference at his Augusta Golf Club vacation office with Herter, Gates and Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

This confidential conference came after the President met for more than two hours with his top policy-making National Security Council.

School Directors Request Recess To Integration

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Shaken by disorders that swept through this tense city, the New Orleans School Board Thursday sought federal court permission for a recess to integration of public schools.

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright—the jurist who ordered the integration—said he would hear arguments on the motion Friday.

One-third of the white public school pupils in New Orleans played truant today, 12,666 of a total white enrollment of 36,725.

A growing boycott of the two elementary schools integrated last Monday just about reached 100 per cent Thursday. Three white pupils reported at William Frantz, one at McDonogh No. 19.

Downtown New Orleans went about its workaday business, free of the roaming masses of unruly teen-agers that forced police to call on fire hoses and mounted officers Wednesday.

The aftermath of the violence died slowly during the night. Police rushed cars throughout the city, and arrested nearly two-score youths for fights and rock-throwing.

The board's move to return to segregated schools until differences between city and state can be ironed out came on a motion filed by Samuel Rosenberg, the board's attorney.

The motion did not ask that the integration order be vacated. It asked time to ease tempers, to work out a solution to the bitter dispute between segregationists and the court order.

It asked for permission to return to segregation, but Lloyd Rittiner, board president, admonished: "This action should in no way be construed by Gov. (Jimmie H.) Davis, Mr. (Shelby) Jackson (state education superintendent), or any member of the State Legislature as an abdication of our stand for a continuance of our public education system."

Rosenberg said: "The public school system has been made a battleground for the fight between state and federal rights."

Thursday's motion is a move "to remove public schools from this position," Rittiner said.

American Incomes Up In October

WASHINGTON (AP)—The personal income of Americans rose slightly in October to a record rate of $409.6 billion a year despite sluggish business activity.

A decline in the total wages paid factory workers was shown by the report issued Thursday by the Commerce Department although record production in the motor industry brought bigger paychecks to auto workers.

This dip was more than offset by small gains in wages and salaries of workers in the retail and in the construction industry. As in September, rising unemployment compensation benefits also contributed to the small gain in total income.

Recovery Hinted

The income trend seemed to bear out the expectation of some government economists that the final quarter of the year would bring a leveling-off, or possibly a slight recovery, in the downtrend which became evident in September.

Some Washington experts have predicted, however, that any autumn improvement would be only a temporary break in a mild recessionary trend. Others insist they see no clear signs that a recession is in progress or is coming.

The output of mines, mills and utilities held even in October, the Federal Reserve Board reported Wednesday.

Industrial production had slipped in September to a rate 3 per cent below the average of the first half of this year.

The Commerce Department said personal income was $800 million higher in October than the $408.8 billion annual rate reported for September. It was $25 billion above the rate of October of last year.

JFK Vote Total Below A Majority

WASHINGTON (AP) — Winner John F. Kennedy appeared almost certain Thursday to wind up with less than a majority of all votes cast Nov. 8 for president of the United States.

With 1,549 precincts still out and many absentee ballots yet to be tallied, Democratic President-elect Kennedy had 33,862,693 votes to 33,676,099 for Republican Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

This was a Kennedy lead of only 186,594 out of more than 67½ million votes last week for him and Nixon.

But his plurality over Nixon was more than outweighed by hundreds of thousands of votes for unpledged presidential electors and minor party candidates.

A winning slate of eight unpledged electors in Mississippi received 109,400 votes, while in Louisiana States Rights electors got 156,269 votes with one parish—county—still unreported.

On top of this, eight states had reported 95,539 votes for minor party candidates. In most cases the tabulation was based on incomplete returns.

Most states will not report the vote for splinter parties until the official canvass. It will be December before all these returns are in.

This would be the 14th time in history that a winning presidential candidate has failed to collect a majority of all votes — the fourth time since the turn of the century.

The last time was in 1948 when Harry S. Truman defeated Republican Thomas E. Dewey and two other challengers of any consequence. In his winning campaigns in 1912 and 1916, Woodrow Wilson also fell short of a majority.

Fabian Earned $136,926 In Year

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Fabulous Fabian, the rock 'n' roll singer, had a fabulous 1959 income and some fabulous expenses, too, his guardian said Thursday.

The 16-year-old earned $136,926 and paid out $100,366 in taxes and expenses, leaving him $36,560 net. This was revealed after an accounting in Orphans Court, financial guardian for Fabian and other under-age Philadelphians with big incomes.

U. N. Group To Go To Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Conciliation Commission for the Congo announced Thursday night that it would begin work there a week from next Saturday.

The decision was made public despite statements of Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu that the 15-nation Asian-African commission should not go to his country without his consent—and that he could not give his consent until he was seated in the U.N. General Assembly.

Didn't Live To See Child

Clark Gable Dies Of Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Clark Gable, whose crackling voice, rough-hewn face and husky frame became the symbol of American manhood to the world, has died of heart failure at 59.

He was king of the movie world from the moment he slapped Norma Shearer in "A Free Soul" in 1931 until death came swiftly at 11 p. m. Wednesday (2 a. m. Thursday EST).

Thought to have been recovering from a heart attack, he had eaten a good dinner and had been taking an evening nap. He breathed two short gasps and died without apparent pain before his wife could be summoned from across the hall at Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital.

Mrs. Gable, herself a heart patient, is five months' pregnant with the actor's first child.

Last Picture

Even since he was stricken with coronary thrombosis 10 days ago—two days after completing his last film — Gable had told his wife repeatedly: "I feel terrible doing this to you and the baby."

When death came, Mrs. Gable was enveloped in the arms of her maid Louisa, who murmured to her: "You're going to have his baby. Don't you worry."

Mrs. Gable was taken to the 20-acre Encino ranch where the star had lived for his last 23 years. She had spent the entire time of his illness with him at Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital and had been certain of his recovery. He had been heartened by good wishes from President Eisenhower and hundreds of fans. Wednesday had been his best day since he fell ill.

Hollywood was slow in realizing his value. After a boyhood of following his father around lumber camps, Gable came to the movie town in the 1920s to work as an extra.

He recalled later: "Everybody said, 'You'll never do anything in pictures; you're not handsome and your ears are too big.' I said, 'Okay, maybe my ears won't look so big on the stage,' and went to New York."

Sought by Filmdom

He had fair success on Broadway and was touring in "The Last Mile" when Hollywood decided to give him a chance. Big ears or not, he was sought by an industry converting to sound and needful of actors who could speak.

Mastery over the female was Gable's stock in trade. Men envied it. Women desired it. And throughout his 30-year career Gable always won over his feminine adversaries.

Though he never appeared to push his career, he remained a top star for a generation. His heyday was in the '30s when he made a long series of hit films, mostly as a hard-fisted man of action. It was a tribute to his resilience that his popularity never declined although none of his postwar films matched the brilliance of his early ones. He still drew top salary—$750,000 for his last film, plus three weeks of overtime at $48,000 a week.

Clark Gable

He always conducted himself with dignity and though he had five marriages, his name was never tinged with scandal. His first two wives, Josephine Dillon and Maria Langham, were older than he; both divorced him.

Then came his marriage to the vivacious Carole Lombard, whose love of life seemed well suited for Gable. He was hard hit when she died in a wartime plane crash. After resuming his acting career following Air Force service, he married Lady Sylvia Ashley, widow of Douglas Fairbanks Sr. It was a mistake; Gable couldn't take the chi-chi world in which she traveled.

Two Step-Children

Gable's marriage to the former Kay Spreckels seemed to suit him. The vital, down-to-earth blonde brightened a life that had known much tragedy, and he treated her two children as his own. The greatest joy of his last months was the prospect of becoming a father for the first time at 60.

After finishing "The Misfits" two weeks ago, he announced "I'm taking off until the baby is born in March. I want to be there when it happens and for a good many months afterward."

Funeral services were set for 9 a.m. Saturday in the Church of the Recessional at Forest Lawn Memorial Park in nearby Glendale. They will be private, for members of the family and close personal friends.

Judge Rhodes' Opinion Reverses Order Of PUC

THE State Superior Court Wednesday reversed an order of the Public Utility Commission refusing permission for five trucking companies to haul cement from eastern Pennsylvania plants.

The opinion was written by President Judge Chester H. Rhodes of Stroudsburg. It directed the PUC to take "action not inconsistent with this opinion. Judge Rhodes held the applications of the five companies should have been granted.

Last April the commission refused requests of the firms to transport cement in bulk and bags from producers in eastern Pennsylvania to other points within the state.

"Limit Industry"

The end result, Judge Rhodes said, "is to limit the cement industry of eastern Pennsylvania to intrastate shipment of their products wholly by rail except for existing rights given three motor truck carriers which are limited to cement in bulk and only to off-rail delivery places."

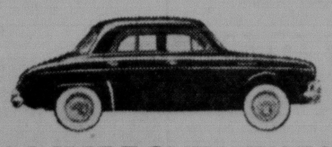
29 IMPROVEMENTS IN THE RENAULT DAUPHINE

It still slips through traffic, runs rings inside other cars, parks and unparks with a finger (natural power steering). It still delivers up to 40 miles to the gallon (48.54 MPG in the 1960 Mobile Mileage Rally). It still looks the same. So where are the 29 improvements?



28 IMPROVEMENTS MAKE IT THE BEST SMALL CAR

28 changes that count. The ride was excellent before; air cushions in the suspension makes it still smoother. The heater is even better (it was hot before). The shift now floats from gear to gear. There are luxury touches like windshield cleaners, nylon door stops. 28 improvements make Renault the best small car in the world. Any arguments?

PORTLAND RESIDENTS ANGRY—This Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad flat car is a source of irritation to residents of Portland who have had to look at it every day for the past couple of months. It was accidentally rammed over barrier at end of track while being shifted and has been considered an eye-sore by residents since then. Requests to railroad to remove it from old Route 611 in center of town have been unavailing.

2nd Truck Loses Air, Turns Over

THE SECOND truck within the past 18 days lost its air as it traveled east on Phillips St., Stroudsburg, and rolled over. Again the driver rode the truck to a stop and crawled from the wreckage uninjured.

Patrolman Russell Decker, investigating the accident for the Stroudsburg police department, identified the driver of the truck as Joseph J. Sarnitzkey, 50, of Cementon.

Sarnitzkey told the policeman he was traveling east on Phillips Street and started down the hill toward Fifth Street.

Applied Brakes

"I shifted from fifth to fourth gear to have complete control of the truck. I applied the air brakes to slow down further and at this time I found I had no brakes," he continued.

Sarnitzkey attempted to make the left turn into Fifth Street and it is believed that the load of sand shifted and caused the truck to roll over.

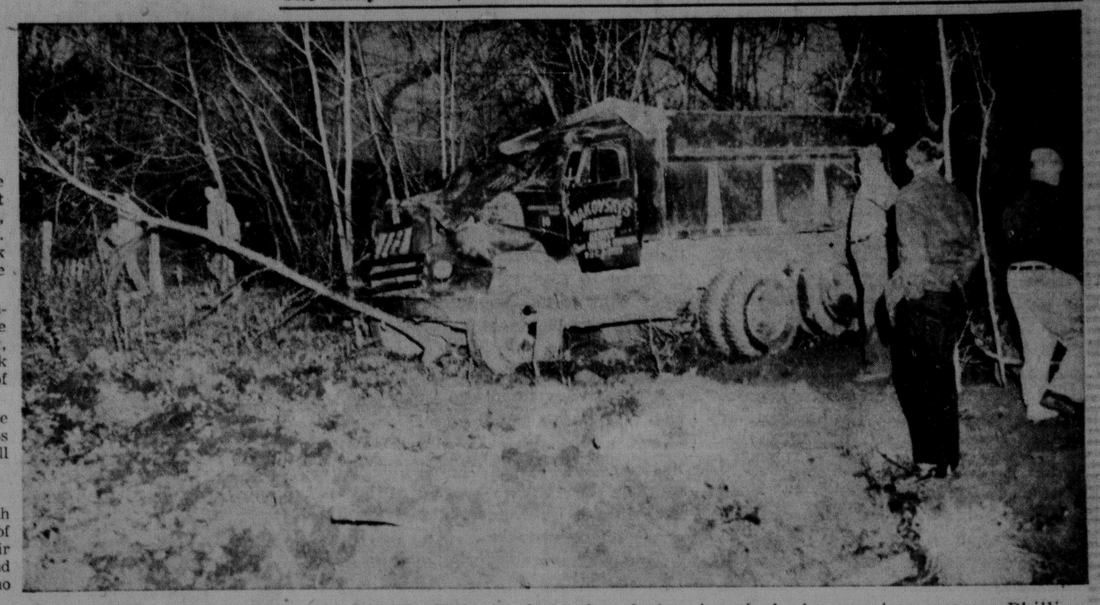
The truck rolled over twice and came to a stop when it was held from rolling down the bank by the second growth of trees in the area.

Total Loss

Police estimated the truck as a total loss.

The truck is owned by Makousky Brothers, Cementon, and is one of several employed in the construction of the flood project on the Brodheads Creek.

Police made no arrest last night and are continuing their investigation today.



BATTERED, BENT AND BROKEN—This truck driven by Joseph J. Sarnitzkey, 50, of Cementon came to a stop in a lot at the intersection of N. Fifth and Phillips Streets, Stroudsburg, yesterday at 4:35 p.m., after losing its air brakes coming east on Phillips Street. The truck rolled over end twice before being stopped by the trees. The driver escaped injuries.

Union, Zinc Firm Confer On Strike

WALTER C. MOSER, area commissioner for the Federal Mediation Conciliation Service, met yesterday for the third time this week to negotiate with the New Jersey Zinc Company and officials of Local 3317 and 4830, United Steelworkers Union, for the settlement of the 104-day-old strike in the plant in Palmerton.

No word has been released by either side as to the progress, but persons contaced have reported that some headway has been made.

The big issue "not arrived at as yet" is the union request for vested rights in the pension plan sponsored by the company.

The union has taken the position on this issue that when it accepted a "package" deal several years ago, an item of nine cents an hour was to be placed by the company for each man in a pension fund.

Not Recalled

However, since the time of that agreement automation and the laying off of employes of the New Jersey Zinc Co., due to the declining demand on the American zinc market, have never been recalled.

The union contends that the more than 1,000 employes have been with the company 15 or more years and is asking that if an employe has 15 or more years service, and is 40 years of age when permanently laid off that he be entitled to a pension when he reaches the age of 65.

Rocket Falters In Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The last test rocket in the Polaris 1,300-mile series faltered in flight Thursday when the second stage conked out seconds after ignition.

The malfunction marred an attempt to close on a successful note what otherwise has been a highly successful test program for the A1 model of the submarine missile. The Navy now will concentrate on developing the advance A2 missile with a range of 1,725 miles.

The 28-foot Polaris roared off to a good start Thursday, trailing a characteristic plume of white smoke from its solid-fuel engines. The second stage ignited on schedule, but suddenly petered out and tumbled into the Atlantic.

Challenge In Italy

Italy, too, is assessing election results. Though its citizens voted to fill municipal and provincial offices, the results bear importantly on the strength of Italy's national government and its relations with other powers in the cold war struggle.

The Communists, benefiting from the recent population surge to the larger cities, received one-quarter of the total vote. Some of the Communist gain, however, was made at the expense of the left-wing Socialists, who were joined with the Communists in the 1956 elections, but since have been cut loose by Pietro Nenni's denunciation of Moscow's dictation.

The other major party to increase its strength was Premier Fanfani's Christian Democrats, who received nearly 41 per cent of the ballots. This is expected to convince the other centrist parties that cooperation under Christian Democratic leadership is essential to their survival.

To counter the rising strength of the Communists, Premier Fanfani may be tempted to explore an "opening to the left" that would admit Socialists with pro-Western leanings.

The risk, of course, is that such an arrangement would alienate the more conservative elements of the centrist coalition and possibly wreck it.

But also involved is the recognized need to broaden the foundations of democracy to attract youngsters who now seem to be wavering between indifference and communism.

Upon Premier Fanfani's success in this precarious venture rests the stability of Italy's government and the strength of its attachment to the Atlantic alliance.

Ruble Devaluation

As was to be expected, the Soviet Government is seeking to hide the clear fact that it is devaluing the ruble both in relation to gold and in relation to the dollar. The propaganda line to be followed in this endeavor was clearly set by Finance Minister Garbuzov in his Pravda article.

It centers upon the assertion that the unilateral decision of the Soviet Government declaring that next year the dollar will be worth only nine-tenths of a ruble "proves" that the ruble is a more valuable and a better currency than the dollar.

One needs only elementary arithmetic to see through the semantic trickery at the base of this propaganda and to appreciate that a devaluation of the ruble has taken place. Let us make the simple calculations required.

The Soviet decree of Feb. 28, 1950, declared that the ruble was equal to .222168 grams of pure gold. Next Jan. 1 the Soviet Union is introducing a new "heavy" ruble equal to ten present rubles. If the 1950 decree had remained operative, therefore, the heavy ruble would be equal to 2.22168 grams of gold.

Instead, however, the decree announced Tuesday puts the gold content of the new heavy ruble at .987412 grams of gold, an obvious devaluation of over 50 per cent. Similarly since 1950 the official ruble value in terms of dollars has been set in the ratio of four rubles to one dollar.

If that had been retained the ratio between next year's heavy ruble and the dollar would have been defined as forty kopeks, or two-fifths of a heavy ruble, equal to one dollar. Instead the new decree more than doubles the value of the dollar in relation to the heavy ruble and the new ratio will be ninety kopeks equal one dollar.

The Soviet Government has really completed the devaluation of the ruble in relation to the dollar that it began in 1957. Early that year it announced a series of premiums which permitted American tourists visiting that country to get ten rubles for a dollar rather than the four rubles the official rate would have entitled them to receive.

But though it made this concession to reality the Soviet Government did not finally come to grips fully with the overvaluation of the ruble until Tuesday's drastic devaluation.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Dr. Philip Jessup

It is true that as the course of events moves, men grow wiser; they correct their errors of thought and decision. On the other hand, when the errors were of so serious a nature as to imperil their country, it is soundest to avoid trusting such persons not to be doctrinate in their attitudes.

Dr. Philip Jessup of Columbia University was at one time a vigorous activist in the Institute of Pacific Relations, chairman of its American Council, chairman of its international council and of its research committee.

Now it is proposed that the same Philip Jessup be chosen as the American member of the International Court before whom questions may come concerning which Dr. Jessup's position must remain in doubt.

The Institute, during the years when Dr. Jessup was most active in it, was under the domination of E. C. Carter and Frederick Vanderbilt Field, the latter an open Communist.

The record shows that Jessup had a very important voice in the Hot Springs Conference of the I. P. R. in January 1945. This Conference was a prelude to the San Francisco Conference of the allied nations to organize the United Nations.

Recommendations as to who should be delegates to the I.P.R. meeting came from Philip Jessup and Lauchlin Currie, the latter at that time being stationed in the White House. The McCarran Committee reports that:

". . . Of the approximately 30 recommendations by Jessup, 10 were identified by witnesses as being associated with the Communist organization."

The McCarran Committee states:

The material "shows how the leaders of the IPR and their advisers—Lattimore, Carter, Currie, Hiss, Vincent, Jessup, Field, and Fairbank — conducted their operations during the war.

Through their influence in the White House, by reports from Foreign Service officers in the field, and through the Mission of the Vice President (Henry Wallace) to China, they sought to bring pressure to bear to undermine the Chinese Government, and to exalt the status of the Chinese Communist Party first to that of a recognized force, and then to that of a coalition government."

The McCarran report also states:

"During this period Mr. Philip C. Jessup expressed to Admiral Cooke opposition to United States aid for the Nationalist Government. General Chennault testified that he urged Jessup not to release the white paper as it would undermine the Nationalist Government. The white paper was nevertheless released.

"Jessup acknowledged before the Foreign Relations Committee that he edited the white paper, which was released July 30, 1949.

Regarding Jessup's career, the McCarran Committee states:

". . . Jessup had had extensive experience in the Institution of Pacific Relations, but there is evidence that up to the time when he became active in the Institute he had in no way specialized in Far Eastern policy . . ."

Also is to be noted:

"The committee finds that the October 1949 conference held in the State Department, and presided over by Philip C. Jessup, is a clear instance in which persons associated with the Institute of Pacific Relations became conspicuously influential in shaping American foreign policy.

"In the opinion of the committee, the selection of personnel, the events at the conference and the subsequent developments established clearly the influence of individuals associated with the IPR sought to exert on the foreign policy of the United States.

". . . On Nov. 29, 1949, Philip C. Jessup told Admiral Cooke that we were going to furnish no more munitions to Nationalist China. On Jan. 5, 1950, three months after the conference, President Truman announced that the United States had no intention of providing military aid to the Nationalists on Formosa and that Formosa should be returned to 'China' in accordance with the Cairo agreement."

Lawrence K. Rosinger, when questioned by the McCarran Committee, declined to answer whether he was or was not a Communist, taking a Fifth Amendment, as the plea is called. Nevertheless, he was invited to attand a consultation by the Secretary of State and he prepared a paper on the American Far Eastern policy which he submitted to Dr. Philip C. Jessup in the State Department. Let me quote:

"Sen. Ferguson. But you were an adviser; and is it not true that, as such, you submitted a written document to the Secretary of State on questions of the Far East?

"Mr. Rosinger. Yes. The document was submitted to Mr. Jessup."

The Pennsylvania Story

Back From Space

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — The 1960 Legislature buzzed back from outer space this week, returned to earth on Monday with a slightly singed nose cone and in a fit and pother adjourned for the year—but not without shattering a few heretofore well established legislative (space) records!

In the first place, after shattering all previous records last year during the 1959 legislative session by enacting 791 pieces of legislation into law (exclusive of necessary appropriation legislation), the Legislature in its recessing space flight this year established a record in the opposite direction—with enactment of only three pieces of legislation, all three appropriation measures.

In another vein, although "in being" (but in recess most of the time) for ten months this year, the 1960 legislative hoedown actually met only 17 days —a brevity record for "regular" sessions (as opposed to special sessions) that dates back to 1790. And the executive branch got in its licks too.

Governor Lawrence for example, while signing a record-breaking 791 pieces of legislation into law during the 1959 session and a record low for any regular session of only 23 vetoes, topped the scales in the opposite direction in the 196 session just ended.

He signed no general bills into law — and wound up with no vetoes. He did sign three appropriation bills into law—the only type of legislation that could be considered by this first annual session Legislature.

Appointments In Absentia — A host of gubernatorial appointments were made this week by the Governor — appointments that failed to gain Senate confirmation and fall in the category of "interim" appointments, that is, appointments the Governor is permitted to make between legislative sessions when they have failed to gain approval during regular sessions.

The appointments in this category made this week by the Governor include such posts as posts on the Milk Control Commission, State Tax Equalization Board, Securities Commission, Air Pollution Commission and a swatch of others.

Curiously perhaps, the appointments were made by the Governor this week even though he isn't here — he's down in the land of the "Brazil nuts," South America, that is, where some 45 governors are on a two-week junket touring Brazil and Argentina.

How then did Mr. Lawrence make the appointments "this week?" They were signed and set up before he departed last week — on a "just-in-case" basis, ready to go as soon as the Legislature formally adjourned.

Election Aftermath — Back on September 15, as the campaign was getting up steam, the Democratic State Committee adopted an ambitious all-encompasing 28-point Democratic state platform for 1960. Quoth Democratic State Chairman John S. Rice at the time: "Every pledge will be enacted into law if Governor Lawrence is given a Democratic majority in the State House and Senate."

What happened? Democrats "escaped" by just one vote from being fully committed to putting the ambitions platform into effect. In the House, administration Democrats won fairly handily — 110 Democrats to 100 Republicans. In the Senate the race developed into a standoff 25 Democrats and 25 Republicans — with 26 votes needed to pass legislation!

Up Periscope! — Noted on the State Auditor General's "Daily Register" of bills up for payment the other day: "four human figures with muscles" for West Chester State College — $955.60. Question: is the Lawrence Administration going this far in providing "education for everybody"?

Not quite. A curiosity check by this column with the Department of Public Instruction reveals that no, West Chester State College is not going out in the raw market for its students — the "human figures" in question are plastic models for use in the college's health education department in the study of anatomy and physiology. Male or female? Two of each!

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

Yesterday we wrote a column on the situation at Stroud Union High. We tried to bring out the feelings and problems at the West Main St. institution. Possibly we failed. However, sincerely we do not think so.

In fact we are sure that the wordage in the article was okay. After all it is penned by us and had our byline glittering atop the, if you pardon, message.

Today before the print was dry on the article, we received a letter, downing our thoughts. But unlike most letters to an individual it was unsigned.

Our "hero" was most critical of football at Stroud Union. He went to to say and we quote:

"The Stroud Union football team is a bunch of GUTLESS TWERPS and nothing more. They had better stay home on Nov. 24 and let the girls of S. U. play for them.

"I am a Stroudsburg resident but those shrinking violets that call themselves a Football team are DISGUSTING."

The latter patter is addressed to yours truly and says, "For once print the TRUTH about them and maybe they will not get killed on 11/24."

Perhaps it would be better if the person who wrote this unsigned message had penned his monicker. Then, and only then, would we be willing to sit down and hash out his charges.

But when an individual has the audacity to call anyone gutless and then turn around and refuse to identify himself, we earnestly believe the cap is on the wrong head.

Like we pointed out Stroud Union has had its troubles on the gridiron this season. But we do not know of any program that hasn't shown the name of the so-called "gutless" player or players announcing their part in the fracas. This is more than we can say for our anonymous letter writer.

We were not trying to point out that Stroud Union has the possibilities of beating East Stroudsburg High on Turkey Day. But we were attempting to show that the Mountaineers are human and deserve the backing of the community despite their setbacks this year.

This is more than we can say of our "hero" of the typewriter.

The Allen-Scott Report

Nuclear Warning Plan

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — The Air Force is installing and testing a new nationwide warning system against surprise nuclear attack.

Three of the highly sensitive alarm devices, about the size of a fire hydrant, are being installed around 100 of the principal cities and military installations throughout the country. Later others will be added.

Each warning instrument is linked directly to five top command centers — the White House; the Pentagon; the North American Air Defense Command (NORAD), Colorado Springs; the Strategic Air Command (SAC), Omaha; and the Emergency Military Headquarters, Ft. Ritchie, Md.

The nuclear alarm system is under the operational control of NORAD.

The warning devices and communication lines are leased from Western Union for around $2 million a year.

This new network is not part of SAGE, the "semi-automatic ground environment" communications system that American Telephone & Telegraph Co. through its subsidiary Western Electric Co., built for the Air Force several years ago at a cost of $2 billion. In addition to providing thousands of communications circuits, this far-flung project also erected numerous technical facilities.

Purpose of SAGE is to guard against surprise air and missile attack. This nationwide electronic system ties in directly with the DEW (distant early warning) Line in the Arctic, that extends from Alaska across Canada to Greenland.

The nuclear attack warning devices are designed to react only to such explosions.

The concept behind them is that the event of nuclear attack, communication lines would be destroyed and civil and military commanders would not know the location of these devastating blows.

The new alarm devices would supply that all-important information.

These instruments are so constructed that they would report a nuclear explosion between the time it occurs and their own destruction by it.

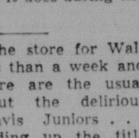
They are now undergoing rigorous tests to ensure effectiveness and accuracy, particularly against sounding false alarms. It may be some time before this new system is deemed wholly fool-proof.

Inside You And Yours

When Appendicitis?

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Are doctors ever justified in operating for appendicitis when the patient doesn't have it?



In spite of all modern diagnostic tests, in spite of all the policing of the medical profession against unnecessary operations, many times the appendix removed by the surgeon is disgustingly healthy.

When it comes to the fate of the appendix, the doctor is often judge, jury, and executioner. But to safeguard the rights of every citizen to good health, the doctor has to assume the appendix is guilty until proven otherwise.

An occasional patient obviously has appendicitis.

Shifting Pain

His pain, which begins about the navel, gradually shifts to his right lower abdomen and he becomes nauseous, runs a mild fever and begins to vomit. On examination, the doctor finds signs typical of appendicitis.

Most cases aren't so clear-cut.

Like an intestinal banner, the appendix dangles loosely and may flow in any direction.

Erratic Action

Because the appendix is often several inches long, an infection at its far end may produce pain a good distance away from the right lower abdomen. The pain may be down in the thigh, across to the middle of the abdomen, up towards the chest or, if the appendix bends upward behind the intestine, the pain may be mainly in the back.

In addition, if the inflamed appendix touches another organ and irritates it, the irritation may cause more symptoms than the appendicitis.

Hard To Diagnose

To add to the confusion, many different conditions often masquerade as "typical" appendicitis.

Pneumonia, kidney infections, and liver ailments are a few of the many conditions which may be mistaken for an inflamed appendix. Children suffering from mild colds and sore throats frequently have swollen glands in the abdomen, a condition often indistinguishable from appendicitis.

Must Operate

Naturally, before he operates, the doctor will want to decide definitely whether or not the patient has appendicitis. He'll examine repeatedly, order laboratory tests and ask a thousand and one questions. But since not removing an inflamed appendix may lead to fatal complications, doctors agree that, when in doubt, they must operate.

Although today appendicitis is still incurable, perhaps before You and Yours come down with it, a drug will be found which can restore both appendix and patient to health.

In the meantime, doctors will have to continue separating each patient from his sick appendix, an operation always fatal—to the appendix.

"I know how to balance our budget, dear—just put this on NEXT year's budget!"

Defense Increase — President Eisenhower's last defense budget is tentatively set at $43 billion —an increase of $1.5 billion over what the military services are currently spending. He will send this budget to the new Congress early in January before he leaves office on the 20th of that month. His successor is not bound by these recommendations, and can cut or raise them as he desires. President Eisenhower sharply reduced the armed forces funds proposed by President Truman before he quit the White House. The President's departure will take a big load off Lieutenant General Leonard Heaton, Surgeon General of the Army. As the President's personal surgeon, Heaton has stayed close to Washington to be available for a possible emergency. But after the President retires, Heaton will be free to make long-overdue trips to Europe and the Far East to inspect medical facilities and operations.

For three noted retired military leaders, the Kennedy Administration will mean a marked change. Admiral Arthur Radford, former head of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and strong partisan of Vice President Nixon, is certain to experience a big loss of influence in Pentagon affairs. His appointment as "consultant" to the Secretary of Defense will be junked. On the other hand, General Maxwell Taylor, one-time Army Chief of Staff, and Lieutenant General James Gavin, who retired as Army Chief of research and development because of disagreement with Eisenhower policies, are slated for a resounding comeback. One or both may be recalled to active duty by President-elect Kennedy. Taylor particularly is being discussed in inner Kennedy quarters as succesor to General Lauris Norstad, commander of NATO. Close to 1,200 pilots with more than 20 years' service are being "excused" by the Air Force from meeting proficiency flying requirements. Included in this group are 237 of the 418 generals with flying rating. This cut is part of the Air Force's program of reducing its rated officers to 70,620.

Social Whirl — Commerce Secretary Frederick Mueller was politely but firmly turned down when he asked for a Scotch and soda at an elaborate party Sheikh Absullah Al-Khayyal, Ambassador of Saudi Arabia, gave to commemorate the accession to the throne by King Saud.

Mueller was pointedly informed that it is not only against the Moslem religion to drink alcohol but against the law of Saudi Arabia to serve it. Reluctantly, Mueller settled for a glass of orange juice. But he ate heartily of the whole roast lamb stuffed with rice and pine nuts that featured the huge buffet. He also had a large slice of the green-and-white frosted birthday cake inscribed with a verse from the Koran in Arabic.

Secretary of State and Mrs. Herter are bowing out of official society next Friday with a dinner for all the foreign ambassadors and their wives. It will be a large and expensive party.

National YWCA leaders were a big disappointment to Madame Herve Alphand, wife of the French Ambassador. She gave a lavish tea for the ladies, meeting in Washington, but they largely ignored the delicious food, particularly an enticing array of genuine French pastry.

When Madame Alphand asked the reason, Mrs. Frederick Billings Lee, chairman, explained, "You see, we are all very diet conscious these days. We would love to partake of your gorgeous delicacies, but they are loaded with calories." Madame Alphand ruefully replied she "admired your will-power."

U. S. and other naval officers in the Capital are still trying to figure out the curious wording of an invitation from the Argentine Ambassador to a reception for Admiral Gaston Clement, Secretary of that country's navy. The unusual invitation read, "In retribution of attentions." However, it was a nice party and everyone had a pleasant time.

HARRISBURG— The Auditor General recently completed the audit of Delaware Valley Joint School District, Pike County, consisting of five school districts. Copies of the report were forwarded to Gov. David Lawrence and the jointure.

The five districts in the jointure are Delaware Township, Dingmans Township, Matamoras Borough, Milford Independent, and Westfall Township school districts, all in Pike County.

The audit report showed that expenditures from the General Fund for the school year ending June 30, 1958 aggregated $354,102, 81, and state reimbursement and subsidies receivable during the school year ending June 30, 1959 totaled $8,398.19.

Over-Expended

In the auditors comparison of budgeted and actual expenditures it was revealed that the budget was over-expended both as to particular items and in total. The auditor general recommended that when transfers of unexpected balances and additional or increased appropriations are necessary that the school code be complied with.

Compliance was also recommended that a fiscal year begin on the first Monday in July in each year be adopted as stated in the school code.

In the review of cash expenditures it was revealed that entries were transcried in the cash journal in non-permanent form. The recommendation was made that the books of account be written in permanent form and that the correction be made by striking out the incorrect entries and the correction explained and initialed.

Recommendations

It was indicated that certain recoveries, in cash receipts, were included as non-revenue receipts. The auditor general recommended that these recoveries be posted as reductions of the applicable expenses.

Three correct or improved procedures were recommended upon further review of the cash receipts. They were: responsible and accurate classification in the posting of cash journal entries; handling of fiscal year-end transactions so that monies received and paid can be recorded in the period in which a transaction actually occurred.

The third improvement was the retention of worksheets used in preforming reconciliation of books to bank accounts.

D&H Given Notice Okay

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Delaware & Hudson Railroad was authorized Thursday to discontinue pickup and delivery by truck at its Olyphant Station in Lackawanna County on 10 days' notice.

The Public Utility Commission approved the proposal and lifted the suspension which it had ordered to allow time for investigation of the proposal.

The commisston said its inquiry showed there had been a steady decline in use of the service accompanied by mounting cost.

Boroug' officials and merchants sought retention of the service primarily as an inducement for industrial development.

Dear Abby

Lose Her---But Quick

Dear Abby: Since I moved near my sister-in-law my life has been a nightmare. I pack three lunches and say goodbye to my family at 8:20 a.m., and before I can turn around, here she comes with her two boys, 3 and 4. She sits down and starts yaking while the boys amuse themselves skating on my floors and arranging the furniture so they can jump from one piece to another.

This morning I had to call a plumber to fix the toilet after they flushed a rubber doll, some plastic boats and four wash cloths down there. They also pulled the thermostat off the wall and cut up some patterns I was saving. The only time their mother shows any sign of disciplining them is when they fight. Then she just hits them over the head with her purse.

I've asked her many times please to phone before she comes (so I can hide) but she says, "I only stay a minute" — then she stays until the 12 o'clock whistle blows and I'm stuck with them for lunch.

How can I get rid of these visits? I don't want her mad at me. When she has it in for someone, she makes up lies and ruins their reputations.

READY FOR STRAIGHT-JACKET

Dear Ready: Don't worry about your reputation — it's your sanity that's important now. Tell her in a friendly way that you can't have morning visitors because you have work to do. If this fails, keep your door locked and put cotton in your ears. "Dropper inners" aren't as easily hurt as you think.

Dear Abby: There are six of us children (all married) in the family and every Christmas we go through the same thing. We have always pitched in to buy our parents one nice gift from all of us. One sister is behind three years for her share and one brother has never put in his share. We would rather buy one nice gift than six cheaper ones. None of us are poor. What do you suggest?

TREASURER

Dear Treasurer: Six less expensive gifts would be just as much appreciated as one large expensive one. Next time, each select his own.

Dear Abby: May I give "Afraid of the Dark" a word of encouragement? There were nine of us children and I was the only one who was afraid of the dark. I was frightened so bad that cold sweat would run down my back. No one could convince me that there was nothing to be afraid of. I was fortunate in that my parents never laughed at me. Instead, they let me sleep with a small light in my bedroom. I am 74 and still do.

Mrs. T. F.

Confidential to Disgusted Suburban Father: Learn how to say No. Building boys is easier then mending men.

Boy Hits Home On Muscular Dystrophy Drive

A BOY beaming in the confines of his wheel chair hit home last night as community fund chairmen staked their full support of the march on muscular dystrophy during a spirited kickoff meeting in Lehighton Municipal building.

The pressing need to halt the progress of muscular dystrophy was vividly exemplified by the presence of Jimmy Baird, 14-year-old East Stroudsburg boy who reigns as the 1960 poster boy in Carbon, Monroe and Schuylkill counties.

A thunderous response in the all-out effort to battle muscular dystrophy echoed as Police Chief Williard Steigerwalt of Palmerton, head of the financial appeal in the three-county area for the second successive year, cited the urgency of the muscular dystrophy problem.

"It is an act of humanity to help these terribly afflicted persons," he said.

Supports Research

No cure or effective treatment has yet been found for the malady which cripples its victims by progressively destroying muscle tissue, the drive chairman pointed out. The disease can strike anyone, regardless of age or sex, he said.

Chief Steigerwalt explained that the funds raised in the doorbell drive will be used by MDAA to support its extensive research program which includes the advance study of the disease at the recently built Institute of Muscle Disease in New York City.

Locally, its aim is to implement MDAA's patient service program by helping to defray expenses of wheel chairs, braces, hospital beds, lifts and other mechanical devices.

"Among our Thanksgiving blessings," Steigerwalt declared, "we can count the many great advances medicine has made against other lethal diseases. Perhaps our campaign to support research into muscular dystrophy will be a crucial factor in the conquest of this tragic disease."

The drive, which is sponsored by the Carbon-Monroe Chapter, MDAA, is part of a nationwide effort in which hundreds of thousands of marchers will participate, culminating locally in a door to door appeal next week.

Area Chairmen

John Baird and Oscar Barry, chairmen in East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg, respectively, conferred with chapter officials to iron out final details for the coming campaign here.

Jimmy, the poster boy, beamed throughout the proceedings from his wheel chair. Fred Ward Sweitzer, Lehighton, chapter president, referred to the boy as the symbol of the plight of MD victims throughout the area. "His smiling face and helpless figure should be compelling reasons for residents of the three counties to give strong support to the 1960 Thanksgiving season march on muscular dystrophy, Sweitzer said.

A $10,000 goal has been set for this year's drive, the third undertaken by the chapter. In its first march, $4,900 was collected through contribution organizations, house to house solicitations and canister collections. Last year, through the same means, nearly $7,000 was raised.

Church Head In Africa Will Speak

THE RT. REV. Richard Ambrose Reeves, Anglican Bishop of Johannesburg, South Africa, will speak at the Cathedral Church of the Nativity, Bethlehem, on Monday, Nov. 21 at 8 p.m. The meeting is open to the public.

Attention of all Christendom has focused on Bishop Reeves since September when deportation by South Africa made him the symbol of religious opposition to apartheid.

Bishop Reeves is native to the land whose racial policies he opposes. Born in Johannesburg in 1899, he was educated at Cambridge University in England and at The General Theological Seminary in New York City. Active in college work, he later became rector of churches in Scotland and in Liverpool.

Emphasized Evangelism

Becoming Bishop of Johannesburg in 1949, he emphasized evangelism in his diocese. He soon became a spokesman for the Anglican Church in South Africa against legislation requiring segregation in the Churches, calling this law "an affront to the Christian conscience." When 69 Negroes were victims of police bullets last March at Sharpville, South Africa, Bishop Reeves was outspoken in his criticism of the government. Later last spring he left South Africa to avoid arrest in the state of emergency that developed. Returning in September, he was seized by the government and deported within forty-eight hours. This action centered world attention on South African racial policy.

Bishop Reeves is in the United States to address the meeting of the House of Bishops of the Episcopal Church at Dallas, Texas. Bishop Warnecke, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Bethlehem, is responsible for bringing Bishop Reeves to Bethlehem. He will speak also at a meeting of the diocesan clergy on Tuesday.

Virginia Head Nixes Clemency

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., has refused to grant executive clemency to Clyde Raymond Near, convicted for the death of Barry Steele Chapman in 1958.

Chapman of York County, Pa., was a young counselor at the Beaumont School for Boys in Powhatan County.

In a letter to Near's attorney Wednesday, Almond said Near was ably defended in a fair and impartial trial.

He said testimony and evidence "negates any rational concept of self defense."

He said the State Supreme Court has viewed the conviction and found no error.

THE BETTER LIFE

Your telephone company illustrates a basic truth about social progress

Everybody wants more and better schools, parks, libraries, recreational facilities—all the things that make for social progress and help each person live a rewarding and useful life.

But social progress, whether supported privately or by government, costs money.

Government spending for social progress is made possible by business and industry, through the taxes they pay and the jobs they create for people whose earnings are taxed. And everyone's income, directly or indirectly, stems from business and industry.

The bill for stepped-up social progress can best be met through growth in the economy.

This is a firm principle of the American system.

Your telephone company is a striking example of how the principle works. America's total economic growth equals the sum of the growth of individual businesses. And how we have grown!

In 1900 there were 46,000 Pennsylvania Bell telephones. By 1930 the number had increased to 1,212,000 and today there are more than 4,300,000. From a business operated by just a few people, we have grown to one that offers steady work at good pay for more than 33,000 men and women.

Let's get a little basic about this growth.

From the start, we have provided a useful service at a price people could afford.

So our business grew, and people invested in it. Their money helped us expand so that more and more families could have telephone service . . . and so that we were able to offer more and more jobs at good wages and under good working conditions. The result has been that government has received greater and greater tax revenues both from us and our employees.

To meet Pennsylvania's communications needs over the next five years we will have to spend over a half billion dollars. Much of this money must come from investors. It will, too . . . if our earnings are what they should be.

Adequate earnings are the key to business growth, a higher standard of living, greater individual and corporate tax revenues, and social progress for us all.

Because adequate earnings are so obviously in the public interest, they deserve public encouragement.

The Daily Investor

Par Value Explained

By William A. Doyle

Q. I recently read that several hundred shares of common stock in a certain corporation were being offered to the public at $3 a share. This was described as a new issue. The par value of the stock was listed as 10 cents a share. Wouldn't this indicate that the original stockholders paid 10 cents a share for the stock and then offered it to the public at $3 a share?

A. No. Here again, we run into one of the most often misunderstood things in the world of finance—par value.

Par value means next to nothing, as far as common stocks are concerned. Par value of common stock is simply the dollar amount assigned to each share by the company's charter. It may also be used to figure out the dollar amount of the common shares on the company's balance sheet.

But these are strictly bookkeeping devices. Par value of common stock seldom has any relation to market value.

You mention that this was a "new issue." That means that the company offered the stock (probably through a group of underwriters) to the public. When a new issue is brought to market, the company gets the proceeds from the sale — not the stockholders.

If stockholders offer a large block of stock for sale, it would be called a "secondary distribution." Then, of course, the selling stockholders would get the proceeds from the sale.

Q. The shares of most closed-end investment companies sell in the market at prices below their asset values. I can follow the market values in the daily quotations. How can I learn the daily values of these shares?

A. It's almost impossible. Only a few closed-end investment companies compute the net asset values of their shares every day. Most figure it out once a week. Some will send you that information regularly, by post card, if you request it.

All major closed-end investment companies compute their net asset value per share at least once a month. That information is supplied to various statistical services and should be available to you through brokerage firms.

Q. I invested $1,000 in stock of a small company. The stock is now absolutely worthless. How can I prove this to the Internal Revenue Service?

A. Get a letter from a brokerage firm, stating that there is no bid in any recognized market for the stock and that the stock is worthless.

If you want to establish a tax loss, you are supposed to report the loss for the tax year in which the stock became worthless. However, in the case of worthless securities, claims for a refund or credit as a result of the loss may be filed within seven years.

Just Between Us——

—By Bobby Westbrook

If I begin to look haunted it's because I know exactly how the beasts of the jungle feel as the beaters close in in ever-narrowing circle, giving them less and less room for maneuvering. The East Stroudsburg sewer is closing in on me.

First this bolt hole and then that is closed. Oh, sometimes one opens up temporarily but that's just to give me a sense of false security. So far I've been able to keep one line of retreat open but one of these days I'm going to get caught between an open ditch and a bulldozer and the family fare page will come out all over white space.

Sometimes I try the direct approach. I joggle down East Brown St. feeling as if the car had two short wheels, fighting the approaching traffic for the narrow strips of undisturbed pavement. Prospect Street, when it's open, has one-wheel's worth between the gas line and the sewer line. Ridgeway Street is deceptive with its "thank-you-mams" coming without warning.

Somtimes I get crafty: sneaking down the canyon where Smith St. used to be, paddling through the mud in the alley that runs to the college dump and emerging on Normal Street which by now is abnormally bumpy. But no matter which way I go, the bulldozer is there before me.

Whatever do you suppose they've been doing down under there since last June? Putting in snack bars? Or maybe they're like overly-enthusiastic amateur gardeners who keep digging up the seeds they've just planted to see whether they've sprouted.

I'm sure there are perfectly sound engineering reasons why they can't finish up one street and repave it before they start on the next. But three blown tires, a radiator broken from a loose stone that lost all my anti-freeze juice, and a permanent crick in my neck don't put me in the mood to try to figure out why. Maybe it would be simpler just to crawl through the sewers.

Open House Climaxes School Week

Parents of children attending the Clearview School have been in school almost as often as the pupils. Many parents took advantage of Open School Week to visit their children in the classrooms during the school day.

The program was climaxed with a well-attended Open House on Tuesday night. After touring the school and meeting with the teachers, the parents assembled for the regular Parent-Teachers Assn. meeting.

A rummage sale will be held December 1 and 2 at 220 Main St., in Stroudsburg. Rummage will be collected on Nov. 30 from those unable to bring it to the store room.

In the "Who Am I?" contest being conducted at each meeting, two teachers were featured: Mrs. Mabel Shook, first grade; and Miss Florence Bates, fourth grade.

The membership drive now in progress will end in November with prizes of $5 going to each room with 100 per cent enrollment of parents. The money is to be used as the teachers and pupils decide.

A sub-committee of the PTA studying "Juvenile Protection" announced a meeting on November 28 on the question "Do We Have a Problem of Juvenile Delinquency in Our Community?" Anyone interested in joining the study may call Mrs. Betty Lindroth or Mrs. Betty Miller.

The curriculum committee representatives reported on the tour planned to the elementary schools of the district.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by Mrs. Arthur Jensen, Mrs. Paul Miklovich, Mrs. Benton Silver, Mrs. Harriet DeRosa and Mrs. Betty Shiffer.

Ramsey PTA Draws 673 To School

The Ramsey Parent-Teachers Assn. held a successful open house this week with 673 persons attending including 273 children.

The rooms were decorated in the November tradition with pilgrims, turkeys and other Thanksgiving symbols, many made by the children.

The school work the children have done during the past two months was on display and the teachers were available to talk to the parents.

The school library with its great selection of books was also open for parents' inspection with Mrs. Thomas Knepp there to answer questions.

The Hospitality committee was headed by Mrs. Marie Manter and Mrs. Alice Baird and included Mrs. Joan Reinhold and Mrs. Shirley Carmer who served cookies and punch from a table decorated for Fall. Home made cookies had been furnished by the mothers: Mesdames Biard, Manter, Parker, Price, Potcher, King and Dietrick.

Spotlight On School Board At Stroud Union PTA

The first of a series of meetings designed to acquaint parents and taxpayers of the Stroud Union School District with various aspects of education in the district will be held on Monday night. It is an open meeting sponsored by Stroud Union High School Parent-Teachers Assn.

"Let's Get Acquainted with the School Board and its Functions" will be the theme of the meeting on Monday night in the "Know Your School" series. It will take the form of a question box with Harold Hosier serving as moderator.

Answering questions will be Edward Rahn who will discuss the make-up and personalities on the school board; Edward Williams who will answer questions about procedure, legal responsibilities and related subjects; and Herbert Crane who will answer financial questions.

Some of the questions to be discussed are: What is the order and time of district elections to the school board? When is the budget prepared? Is it possible to make any economic savings without sacrificing quality? What are the strengths and weaknesses of state aid? What is the relationship between the athletic council and the school board?

The programs in the series are a new development in community education. Future subjects include "Let's Get Acquainted with the Four Arts": music, physical education, dramatics and public speaking with Mrs. William Howard as chairman in January; "A Graduate Speaks Out," featuring graduates of the school and the report of the evaluation committee by Principal Alfred Munson, with William Clark moderator in March, and at the final meeting "Let's Look at the Ideal High School Curriculum" with Mrs. Robert Hellmann as chairman.

Testing Program Explained To Study Group

The Elementary Curriculum Study Committee met on Wednesday, November 16 at the Arlington Heights School. Due to a change of plan the tour of the schools was postponed until Spring.

Miss Eloise Bryan, psychologist for Stroud Union School District, explained and discussed the testing and follow-up program as applied to our elementary grades. Miss Bryan reports that Stroud Union is unique in the quality of service offered to its students. Under Miss Bryan's direction the Stroud Union School District is one of the few public schools recognized by the American Board of Psychological Services.

Miss Bryan told the group, "The objectives of applied psychology in the system is the 'goal ideal' or total achievement, social and emotional, as well as academic. Since the program has been instituted there is a more uniform performance and less misfit or problem individuals at various levels.

"Another benefit from the present testing program is the establishment of reliable records for the benefit of accurate measurement. Kindergarthers are more ready to start after screening and more ready to achieve when they reach first grade. Over a two-year period there have been deferred in the district some fifty children whose readiness testing indicated that they would profit by delaying entrance into kindergarten. Since we have a structural school system which feeds from grade to grade children who must be ready to read, add, spell and think, testing is a vital part of this objective."

Miss Bryan pointed out that public schools are committed to the principle of the "greatest good for the greatest number." This means that the minority must be carefully screened so as to be sacrificed. There is a case history of each child in the district. Binet tests are used pre-school through second grade and Children's Wechsler and Adult Wechsler from third grade through high school.

Finally, Miss Bryan stressed the great importance of gaining and retaining high ethical and spiritual values while attending high intellectual achievement. "Intellect differs from efficiency," she concluded, "since intellect has to do with abstract rather than concrete thinking. The ability to make sound judgments is one which needs to be given an opportunity to develop in the home, as well as in the school environment. Certainly in the whole area of evaluation of our school, promoting the ability to think as a whole individual should be of paramount concern."

Rummage Sale To Benefit Paradise Center

At the recent meeting of the Paradise Community Center held at the Swiftwater Methodists Hall, the committee reviewed the work already accomplished and looked forward to future plans.

A vote of appreciation was given to Peter Rossi who donated the services of his landscape gardener and relandscaped the Community Center grounds with particular attention to the Littel League Babe Ruth baseball field which has been completed and will be ready for use in games in the Spring.

Also acknowledged were the picnic tables made by the men of the area and placed in readiness for use. Electricity is being installed at the field and plans are now being discussed on the type of building needed at the center.

To raise funds, the group decided to hold a rummage sale at the storeroom next to the Grand Theater, East Stroudsburg, on Monday, Nov. 21, from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m.

June Heydt and Margaret Neison, co-chairmen, ask all residents of the area to bring any food, clean used clothing to Blackwell's Service Station by Sunday afternoon.

Dear Abby Program For Youth Fellowship Group

Newfoundland — Daily Record columnist Abigail VanBuren and President-Elect John Kennedy came in for their share of attention during the meeting of the Greentown-Newfoundland-South Sterling Youth Fellowship this week.

A panel of teenagers including Diane Eggert, Connie Keiter, Kurt Krieger, Bliss Arneberg and Gerald McLain led a discussion entitled, "Dear Abby." The problems of social behavior as detailed and answered by Abby and other noted columnists were included in the program.

Youth unit members attending first heard the problem read by one of the panelists, and then gave their own answers and suggestions. The answer given by the columnist was read for comparison.

Diane Eggert led the worship service and Jane Beehn was organist for group singing.

The unit approved a golden letter to President-Elect Kennedy, expressing their support in his leadership of the American people. They also voted to write letters to Mrs. Percy Crawford and Mrs. Paul Oliver. The latter is an 80-year-old woman who provides modern, low-cost housing for Negroes.

During the business meeting at which Gerald McLain presided, the group discussed the trip to Scranton on Friday to see Ben Hur. Everyone will meet before 6 p.m. at the Moravian Church and go by bus.

A swimming party at Weston Field in December was discussed and December 7 or 10 were set aside if the pool is available.

The hymn "O Young and Fearless Prophet" was voted as the "official" MYF hymn by the unit upon the suggestion of Douglas Smith.

The unit approved a donation of either $25 cash or the equivalent in needed articles for a branch of Medico.

The MYF will prepare a program detailing its work and will make it available to area organizations who are interested.

The group approved new membership cards eliminating the word "Methodist" and substituting M (for Methodist or Moravian) YF. Rules for membership were also approved as presented by Gerald McLain. Others on the committee were Martin McLain and Douglas Smith.

The next meeting of the MYF will be held on Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at South Sterling, when there will be a discussion of the movie Ben Hur. This should prove interesting whether or not each member is able to attend.

Postponed Meeting Sunday

Gateway Post 56 and Auxiliary, Society of the 28th Division meet November 27 at the VFW Home. This meeting is postponed from November 20 due to conflicting activities of the Post and Auxiliary.

The Wyckoff Shopper
"the friendly store"
A.R. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

Right now there is a pile of shiny paper books on my desk . . . books about Christmas, retailing at 50c and 1.00, which have a tremendous sale at Wyckoff's each year as inexpensive Christmas gifts or, if you prefer, rather expensive Christmas cards. Each one of these books comes with an envelope . . . and there are scores of persons who send them to special friends each year because they are very beautiful, and filled with entertainment, philosophy, poetry and pictorial splendor.

Beginning at the top of the stack, the first is "Christmas Around the World." On its cover is a picture of the inn and the adjacent stable . . . beneath an arched doorway one glimpses the Holy Family, bathed in golden light. In the foreground are the three Wise Men bearing gifts, and at the side, their camels. This is, I think, the only religious picture. The remainder of the book is devoted to drawings of Christmas scenes from Ireland, Germany, Greece, and other lands, including our own United States. Children would find this informative for their school work.

Second is "A Christmas Carol" by Charles Dickens, showing Tiny Tim being tossed high in the air over his father's shoulder as he swings his cane in happy enthusiasm for Christmas. This is the old classic, faithfully reproduced and lavishly illustrated in color and sketch. Any child old enough to appreciate a good story will be pleased to have it on his bookshelf.

For younger children there is another book called "Jolly Old Santa Claus." On the cover, Santa winks broadly and places his finger aside of his nose, as in "The Night Before Christmas" rhyme. There is a merry, blithe-hearted story between the covers, with Mrs. Santa, the reindeer, the dwarfs, and toys pictured in bright color . . . climaxed, I might add, by that most wonderful of all scenes: Santa's dive down the chimney of what will be, to every tiny listener, HIS or HER own house.

The fourth volume, also 1.00, is of Christmas Stories That Never Grow Old. The first is the Bible story . . . other's are The Juggler of Notre Dame, The Man Who Brought the Myrrh . . . The Gift of the Magi . . . The First Christmas Tree . . . The Gifts of the Wise Men . . . Virginia's letter to the editor of the New York Sun . . . The Little Match Girl . . . and such poems as The Night Before Christmas. A very fine collection for anyone who gives readings at Christmas time.

Next, of course, is the Christmas Ideals, available in two sizes . . . 50c and 1.00. The cover is cheery with poinsettias and candles, and the contents include religious and secular art, paintings and pictures, stories and verses.

At the bottom of the pile . . . last because of its size, but certainly not because of its quality, is the CHRISTMAS ANNUAL. This is 1.25, and worth every cent. The cover is a soft, dull green with a light tracing of Biblical characters. The big center illustration shows the Holy Family painted in a very contemporary, though realistic, manner. The articles are splendid . . . one on Denmark's Christmas spoons which will interest spoon collectors . . . another on Christmas treasures in America's art galleries . . . still another on America's very own Christmas story. The annual also contains a "tapestry" of Christmases around the world, delightful poems . . . everything. It's lovely.

So there you are . . . now see them for yourselves. They're all an excellent buy, for yourself or your friends.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Big Group Gets Control Of Washington Club

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A 10-man group headed by Elwood Quesada, administrator of the Federal Aviation Agency, Thursday night was awarded the new Washington franchise in the American League.

Joe Cronin, American League president, also announced that the league had adopted a plan for stocking the two new clubs with 28 players each.

Each American League team will present a list by noon Friday of 15 players, seven of whom must have been on the active roster Aug. 31, 1960. All must have been on the 40-man rosters when frozen by Commissioner Ford Frick Nov. 7. Each club will lose seven men for a total of 56 to be divided between the two new clubs.

Draw Lots

The two new clubs will draw lots to see which will get first pick. One team will take four men, the other three. Then they will alternate until each has 28.

Ten of the players must be pitchers, 2 catchers, 6 infielders and 4 outfielders. The other 6 men may be any position needed.

In addition to this stock piling plan, each of the new clubs will get two draft selections from the minor leagues after the regular player draft Nov. 28 at Louisville. No first-year man can be taken and no more than one from any one club. This provision, which needed minor league assent, was approved by mail vote of the minors and majors earlier this month.

Each of the two new clubs will have until midnight Nov. 20 to select its 28 players. The price of each is set at $75,000. Each must take the 28 men making a total investment of $2.1 million by each club plus two more at $25,000 each in the minor league draft for a player total of $2.15 million.

The 28 players from the American League and two more from the minors will give each club 30 men after the Nov. 28 draft. In addition, each of the new teams will be permitted to pick one more player from each American League club's farm system for the usual selection price of $25,000.

No Action

Cronin said no action was taken on the Los Angeles situation "in view of the position of the commissioner." Cronin added, "It is necessary to clarify the situation before taking action."

Frick said Wednesday he would insist on a "fair and equitable" amendment to the territorial rule before he would permit a second club to move into either Los Angeles or New York.

Hank Greenberg, Chicago White Sox vice president, has decided not to go into the Los Angeles club. Cronin said Greenberg planned to retain his substantial stock holdings in the White Sox.

Cronin said bids will be entertained for the Los Angeles franchise as was done in the case of Washington.

Greenberg Out

"We expect to operate in Los Angeles, in 1961, subject to the commissioner's clarification," said Cronin. "We are entertaining bids for the franchise.

"No party connected with any American League club is interested in Los Angeles. Greenberg definitely will not get the franchise in Los Angeles."

Cronin said he did not know if any bidders for Los Angeles would appear at Friday's meeting. He said several people are interested.

Pittman's 65 Leads Tour Golf Event

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Former collegiate star Jerry Pittman shot a six-under-par 65 Thursday and took the lead in the first round of the $15,000 Cajun Classic Golf Tournament.

While the 23-year-old Pittman, who was a Southwest Conference golf champ at Southern Methodist, was blazing the way, defending champion Billy Casper came in with a 70.

Pittman, from Tulsa, Okla., has been out of the money in his last six starts, dating back more than three months.

Five Grouped

Five were grouped at 67, including Frank Boynton of Orlando, Fla., Jay Hebert of Lafayette, Jon Gustin of Gladwyne, Pa., Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., and Frank Stranahan of Crystal River, Fla.

Frank Wharton of Dallas, Tex., and Bobby Nichols of Midland, Tex., were grouped at 68 with Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, and Harold Kneece of Aiken, S.C.

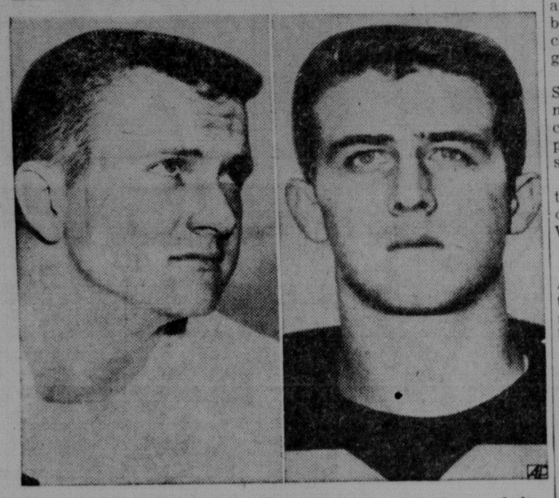
One Game On High Grid Slate

Only one area high school football game is scheduled this weekend, Pius X at Phillipsburg Parochial Sunday.

East Stroudsburg High and Stroud Union play Thanksgiving morning and Bangor and Pen Argyl meet Thanksgiving afternoon at Bangor. Nazareth and Wilson Boro will decide the Lehigh Northampton title also on Thanksgiving.

Phillipsburg Parochial is unbeaten in eight games this year, while Pius X has lost only to Notre Dame of Green Pond, 6-0. The two teams have played two common opponents, Belvidere, N. J., and Lansdale Catholic.

Both teams hold wins over Belvidere and Lansdale but Parochial's triumphs were much more convincing. It rapped Belvidere 32-7 and Lansdale 25-7. Pius beat Belvidere 14-7 and Lansdale 7-0.



WEEK'S TOPS IN FOOTBALL—Ed Dyas, left, Auburn's record-setting field goal kicker, was named Associated Press Back of the Week, Nov. 15, for his pressure kicks in Auburn's 9-6 victory over Georgia Nov. 12. Gary Collins, Maryland end, right, was named Lineman of the Week Nov. 16 in a poll of Associated Press writers and broadcasters.

Terp End Named Top AP Lineman

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—"He can do everything and does it well," Maryland football Coach Tom Nugent says of his end, Gary Collins.

His sure-fingered pass catching puts him on a par with any offensive end. But he also has blocked punts and field goals, intercepted passes and kicked the ball himself in standout style.

A touchdown pass he caught with 65 seconds to play for a 22-19 victory over North Carolina last Saturday earned him lineman of the week in The Associated Press poll.

Defensive Fits

Before that payoff catch, the junior from Williamstown, Pa., had given North Carolina fits on defense. In a goal line stand by Maryland he made three of four tackles. Another time he reeled off five straight tackles.

"I don't think it was my best game," deprecated the tall 208-pounder.

What was?

"Clemson, I guess."

He played for only five minutes in that game and couldn't punt because of a sore hip. But his pass catching set up the first Maryland touchdown and he carried another in for the deciding score in a 19-17 victory.

Grid Fixer Found Guilty

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Aaron Wagman of New York was convicted Thursday of bribing Florida fullback Jon Macbeth to limit the points in a football game.

Judge John A. H. Murphree gave the defense 15 days to ask a new trial and said he will rule on that motion and if denied will sentence the 27-year-old souvenir salesman Dec. 1.

Cards Sign Williamsport

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals, after a lapse of one year, will have a working agreement in the Eastern League during the 1961 baseball season.

League President Thomas H. Richardson said Thursday an agreement would be signed between the Cardinals and the Lancaster Red Roses. The Lancaster club had an affiliation with the Chicago Cubs during the 1960 season.

The Cardinals' last agreement was with York in 1959.

Basketball Coach Frank McGuire of North Carolina, who doesn't smoke, relieves tension during games by munching candy drops.

Wolslayer, Brown Get Bowl Bids

EAST STROUDSBURG State College co-captains Dick Wolslayer and Sterling Brown have been selected to play in the Gem City Football Bowl, Thanksgiving Day.

The bowl, for seniors only, is played in Erie. This is the third year for the event.

A third Warrior lineman, Jake Piatt, was chosen as an alternate for the game, which will be played between Eastern and Western All-star teams of Pennsylvania and neighboring state college players.

Wolslayer and Brown will play for the East team, which will be coached by Bill Miller, Detroit University coach, while Ara Parseghian, Northwestern coach, will handle the Western team.

Other Players

Most of the players will come from Pennsylvania schools with Ohio State and Syracuse, if it does not accept a bowl bid, also sending players. Penn State and Pitt will also send representatives, providing the teams do not go to a post-season game. More than 30 schools are expected to have players in the game.

Warrior coach Jack Gregory made the announcement of the selections at a dinner for the East Stroudsburg football team at the college dining hall last night.

Gregory also announced the results of the voting for the three football awards.

Wolslayer was selected as the outstanding player, Fred O'Connor, received the "Red Shirt" award and Walt Snyder got the "Coaches" award.

The Red Shirt award is given to the player who through his spirit and determination contributed to the team, while the Coaches' award goes to the player who is considered the "most improved."

First Picked

Wolslayer, a center and linebacker, and Brown, a guard, will be the first East Stroudsburg grid players to play in a post-season event. Fullback John Brunner was selected as an alternate for the bowl last year but turned down a chance to play.

Wolslayer and Brown report to the bowl's training camp Monday. They will receive travel expense money and a souvenir from the bowl.

Some 35 graduates of the bowl have been given an opportunity to play pro ball.

Late Score Shifts "840" Pin Line-up

A LAST minute score has changed the lineup slightly for Sunday's "840 Classic" match.

Calls from bowlers indicated that a missing card contained scores higher than those reported.

Here is the new and final list of bowlers who will appear Sunday: Walter Straub, Stroudsburg, 649; Sam Strunk, Analomink, 641; Randy Morris, Stroudsburg, 626, and Jake Nittel, East Stroudsburg, 616.

Jake is back for a second try at the semi-finals. His first try on October 23rd resulted in a nine pin loss to Dr. Gail Fegley. This Sunday's match will be started at 12:45 p.m. instead of the usual 1 p.m.

Army hockey star Tom Carroll of Burrillville, R.I., also is a member of the West Point astronomy and camera clubs.

Detroit Tigers' right hander Frank Lary has a 21-6 lifetime record against the New York Yankees.

Penn State May Try Air Against Panthers Saturday

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa.—With few teams able to run against muscle-bound Pittsburgh this season, Penn State may go airborne in its game with the Panthers Saturday.

Sharp as they were, however, against Holy Cross last Saturday, Lion quarterbacks Galen Hall and Dick Hoak must improve if they hope to find any chinks in Pitt's defensive secondary.

"We must guard against interceptions," warns coach Rip Engle in noting that 11 State passes have been stolen this season. "Pitt converted interceptions into touchdowns against Notre Dame, Syracuse and Army."

Top Tosser

Hoak is Penn State's most effective passer. Against Holy Cross, the Jeannette senior completed six of seven for 174 yards and a touchdown. Through eight games he owns a 56.1 completion percentage on 23 strikes in 43 attempts. He has thrown for 386 yards and four TDs and has had three intercepted.

Hall, the starter, has completed 36 of 86 for 395 yards and four touchdowns. Five of his have been intercepted.

Hoak leads the team in total offense. In addition to his air yards, he owns 260 rushing yards with a 4.5 average.

Groat National MVP

By DAVID A. LEHERR

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Last December, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Kansas City Athletics got together for a possible trade. The talks involved swapping Pittsburgh's shortstop Dick Groat for slugger Roger Maris of the A's.

After one of the sessions, General Manager Joe L. Brown and Manager Danny Murtaugh of the Pirates seemed almost ready to wrap up the deal. They returned to their hotel room in Miami Beach to talk it over.

"But as soon as Danny and I closed the door, we looked at each other and frowned—right away we knew we didn't like it," Brown recalled Thursday.

The deal was called off.

Both Honored

Thursday, Groat was named the National League's most valuable player. About a week ago, Maris, now with the New York Yankees, achieved the same distinction in the American League.

Groat, who led the Pirates to their first pennant in 33 years and their first world championship in 35 years, won the MVP award in a landslide.

He got 16 of the 22 first place ballots cast by a special committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America for 276 points to beat out teammate Don Hoak. The Buc third-sacker placed second with 162 points.

Willie Mays of San Francisco polled 115 points for third place and Chicago's Ernie Banks, winner of the award in the last two years, was fourth with 100 points.

The balding, 30-year-old infielder from nearby Swissvale, became the first Pirate player to capture the MVP award since the baseball writers took over the selection in 1931.

Pauls Wins Pin Event At Harmon's

JEAN and Dane Paul won the recent mixed doubles handicap bowling tournament at Harmon's Recreation.

Lena and Ted Dippre and Mary Geeman and Ted Hoffman tied for second. Other winners in order of finish were Jean and Larry Dildine, Loretta Gallagher and Harold Staples, Glendora Snyder and Henry Michael, Doris and Bob Fellencer, Donna Stout and Stanley Boorstein and Ann and John Baird.

The top single out of the money was posted by Nancy Konawalik and Don Hartman, while Jo Harris and Okay Stuckey had the high triple out of the money. Other out of the money awards went to Ann Schimmel, ladies high single; Helen Bobby, ladies high triple; Babe Miller, men's high single and Don Kinsley, men's high triple.

Title Details Near Finish

NEW YORK (AP)—Dewey Fragetta, New York fight booking agent, said Thursday he has virtually closed deals for a third Duilio Loi-Carlos Ortiz junior welterweight title fight and for a non-title appearance by lightweight champion Joe Brown in Milan, Italy.

Fragetta said both fights would be held in Milan's Sports Palace, which seats 15,000, under the promotion of Vittorio Strumolo.

"The Loi-Ortiz fight is about set for Jan. 26," said Fragetta.

Brown will meet Italian Giordano Campara in a non-title 10-rounder Dec. 3.

Two Young Fighters Meet For Share Of Bantam Title

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two young fighters, Eloy Sanches of Mexico and Eder Jofre of Brazil, who between them have fought but 72 matches, clash Friday night for a piece of the world bantamweight title.

Slated for 15 rounds in the Olympic Auditorium, the contest is expected to attract around 10,000 fans and the winner will be recognized by the National Boxing Association as king of the 118-pounders.

The victor, in turn, has agreed to fight Alphonse Halimi of French Algeria, who is now recognized in Europe as the titleholder.

Title Vacated

The title was vacated last summer by Mexico's Jose Becerra, who won the then undisputed crown by knocking out Halimi here in July, 1958.

Becerra retired after the little-known Sanchez belted him out in the eighth round in Mexico last Aug. 18 in a non-title scrap.

Halimi regained prestige and the European crown when he beat Freddie Gilroy of Ireland in London recently.

Jofre is rated the No. 1 contender and will be about a 10-7 favorite at ringside.

The match goes on soon after 9 p. m., EST. There is no radio nor television broadcast in the United States.

Jofre has scored 26 knockouts in his 37 matches, has three draws and has not been defeated.

Sanchez has knocked out six opponents in his 35 fights, all of them in Mexico. He has been beaten 11 times. He lost three of them on technical knockouts.

Patriots Meet Dallas Tonight

BOSTON (AP) — Suddenly revived Boston and swift, powerful Dallas tangle Friday night in an American Football League game that is vital to both.

Each must have it to keep alive their faltering hopes for a division title. Dallas is 5-4, and trails Western leader Los Angeles (6-3) by one game. Boston is 4-5 and is two back of Eastern boss Houston (6-3).

Their match is the only AFL action Friday. Denver visits Houston and Buffalo is at Los Angeles in Sunday afternoon affairs. Oakland and New York have an open date.

Several High Conference Titles At Stake Saturday

By FRED WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP)—A couple of conference titles will be decided this weekend in an otherwise light Pennsylvania high school football schedule.

These appear to be the best among the less than three dozen games on the card:

East:

Neshaminy over Bensalem—Neshaminy has outclassed all its Bux-Mont opponents so far and has been tied only by Easton. Each has a 7-0 league record going into this finale.

West Scranton over Blakely—West Scranton, unbeaten and untied, shoots for another East Penn Northern Dvision title.

Midstate:

Berwick Picked

Berwick over Milton — Berwick would like to add the Susquehanna Valley to its East Penn Southern Division and Keystone Conference trophies; Milton could be tough.

Coal Twp. over Danville—Now that Coal's unbeaten season has been ruined by Berwick, it looks to rebound against a sliding Danville team.

Lancaster over York—The Tornadoes are supposed to be smarting from a crack about "backing into" the Central Penn title; a victory here would give them a perfect league record.

West:

Pittsburgh North Catholic over Boys Town, Neb.—An annual charity game, picked on the basis of North's perfect record this season.

Erie Prep over Erie Academy—Reversing the outcome of their early October game in this Erie County Big Seven title playoff.

The others:

Friday:

GAR Favored

East—Philadelphia Roxborough over Philadelphia Box, Philadelphia Dobbins over Philadelphia Mastbaum, Malvern over St. Joseph's Prep, Darby over Eddystone, Bristol over Levittown, Tunkhannock over Lackawanna Trail, Wilkes-Barre GAR over Larksville, Plains over Nanticoke.

Midstate — Shippensburg over Hanover, Carlisle over Mechanisburg.

Saturday:

Midstate — Steelton over Lebanon, Bald Eagle-Nittany over Montgomery, South Williamsport over Muncy.

Sunday

East — Reading Catholic over Shenandoah Catholic, Chester St. James over Philadelphia St. Thomas More.

Midstate—Mount Carmel Catholic over Marian Catholic.

(Last week: 44 right, 13 wrong 4 ties, .772 season: 391-135-35, .743)

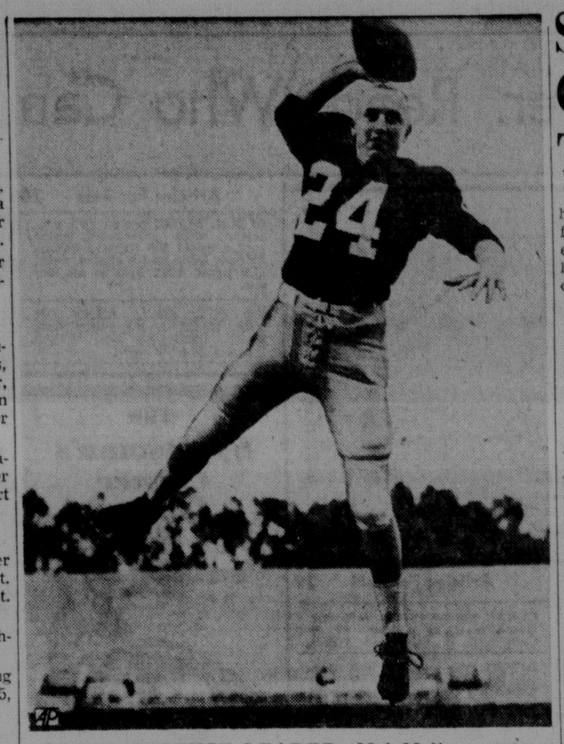
Court Orders Title Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—A U.S. District Court judge has granted an injunction ordering world welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret, of Cuba to defend his title next against former champion Don Jordan.

What effect the order will have on the scheduled title bout between Paret and Argentina's Federico Thompson at Madison Square Garden Dec. 10 was not known immediately.

The court order enjoining Paret from any fight until he meets Jordan was granted Tuesday by Judge Alexander Bicks.

Parent won the title by outpointing Jordan, of Los Angeles, in 15 rounds at Las Vegas, May 27, 1960.



TOTAL OFFENSE LEADER—Mel Melin, quarterback of Washington State University, is the nation's total-offense leader in major college football. Melin, who has gained 1,487 yards in nine games, is second in passing with 104 completions for 1,450 yards. (AP Wirephoto)

Ditka Closes Brilliant Pitt Career Against Penn State

By MURRAY CHASS

PITTSBURGH (AP)—About an hour and a half before the Pitt-Penn State game starts Saturday, No. 89 will pull a blue and gold jersey over his head for the last time.

He won't say anything, but he'll pace back and forth between benches and lockers. Most of his teammates will be stretched out relaxing — but not Mike Ditka, Pitt's team captain and end.

"I get real nervous. I can't sit down," he says. "I can keep quiet, but I can't keep my hands and legs still. I get butterflies, not as bad as I used to but I still get them.

"But once we go out on the field and do our calesthenics, I'm okay. Then I start thinking about what I'm going to do in the game."

Wants Pro

Ditka is anxious to take a crack at professional football. If he does succeed in the pro circles, it most likely will be on defense.

"I imagine they'll use me on defense in the pros if I put on some weight," the 6-3, 215-pound Ditka offered. "I can get up around 225 or 230.

"I have no preference about which team I play for. But I don't want someone to draft me if they won't use me. I think I'd like to play in the National League. It's more of a challenge. If you can make it there, you've got it."

Good Attitude

Pitt coach Johnny Michelosen doesn't doubt that Ditka will succeed in professional football. He says:

"Mike is a tremendous football player—one of the best I've had the privilege of coaching. He has the greatest attitude for football of any kid."

For lack of a Pitt passing attack, Ditka this season has earned the reputation of being a vicious defensive end rather than a pass-catching offensive threat. It was for his defensive play that he was named Associated Press Lineman of the Week after Pitt's 10-0 upset of Syracuse.

Braves, Yanks Discuss Trades

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves have discussed trades but they are reported far apart. The talks may be resumed at a later date.

"They want infielders," said Roy Hamey, new general manager of the Yankees Wednesday. "We want pitchers. But we have a good ball club and we are not going to break it up to gamble on an extra pitcher. The price McHale (John McHale, Milwaukee general manager) sets is too high."

Pitt Wants Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP)—John Milosen Wednesday received a contract to stay on indefinitely as head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh. No salary terms were announced.

Slater Coach Calls 1960 Team Best

COACH David Prichard rates his current Bangor High School football team as one of the finest groups of young players he has run across in his 14 years of high school coaching.

"They're terrific," he told Bangor Exchange Club members and their guests at the annual dinner honoring the varsity squad at the Blue Valley Farm Show building last night.

"Win, lose or draw on Thanksgiving Day, if they play then as hard as they have all season, I'll be mighty proud of them. They've shown a real love for the game and lots of guts even in the games they have lost," Prichard told the more than 100 persons attending the dinner.

Gregory Speaks

Something of the same spirit was expressed by the speaker of the evening, coach Jack Gregory, of East Stroudsburg State College grid team. He sighted five major points to be learned from athletic contests particularly football. They include self discipline, rewards of hard work, self confidence, the ability to bounce back from defeat, and the benefits of personal faith.

Coach Gregory was accompanied by two of his team's leading players, Bill Race, halfback, and Maurice Barber, end.

Isaiah Resh, ardent Bangor sportsman, unveiled his new "Ike" Resh trophy. The third of which he has donated to the winners of the Thanksgiving Day Game.

In order to retire the trophy it must be won three consecutive years.

Bangor retired the second trophy last year with its 20-0 triumph. The first trophy was retired by Pen Argyl after it see-sawed back and forth for 10 years.

Knights Won First

Frederick Baker, club president, welcomed those attending last night, and Wilson Jackson acted as master of ceremonies.

The following members of the Bangor coaching staff were introduced: Dale Baker, Jack Finelli and Lewis Guida, Dr. R. W. Fritzsche, team physician and Dr. Trevor Williams, school principal.

Scheduling Hopes Took Dive

HOPES OF scheduling Allentown-Bethlehem area colleges by East Stroudsburg State in basketball got a severe jolt this week.

The Warriors topped both Lafayette and Lehigh in game-type scrimmages and the bigger schools won't put East Stroudsburg on their schedules until they are sure they can take the Normal Hillers.

Only one side of bleachers was set-up for Wednesday night's scrimmage against Lehigh at Normal Hill. But they were soon filled and much of the over-flow crowd of 700 had to stand. It was probably one of the largest crowds ever to watch a Warrior hoop scrimmage.

Dick Luce's team opens its season Dec. 3 at home against Paterson. The Warriors will play six games before they break for their Christmas vacation. This year's schedule includes a three-day road trip, with stops on consecutive nights at Shippensburg, Bowie, Md. and Cheyney.

Warriors Set Travel Record

The Warrior football team set a travel record last Saturday in its game at Indiana. It was the first time a Pennsylvania State College Conference team had flown to a league game. Last year East Stroudsburg flew to Waynesburg for a non-conference game.

West Chester and Lock Haven meet Saturday at Lock Haven for the conference football title, with West Chester a heavy favorite.

And Doc Daugherty, the Indiana backfield coach, who was Rip Engle's first captain at Penn State, says that his team played it's best game in four years when it beat East Stroudsburg 20-7.

The Pleasant Valley High School will have blue and white school colors and will be nick-named the "Bears."

Terps Near Winning Season

If the University of Maryland beats Virginia Saturday and they are heavily favored to do it, it will be the first winning season the Terps have had since 1955, when they were unbeaten and played in the Orange Bowl.

Last year Maryland was picked to win one game and they won five. This season the Terps were picked to win two games by the pre-season magazines and a win Saturday would give them a 6-4 record.

Virginia has the longest losing streak in major college football, 25 games. But the Cavaliers are leading the Atlantic Coast Conference in rushing offense with an average of 216.6 yards per game and are only three yards behind the conference leader in total offense.

Penn State To Play Miami

Penn State will begin football relations with Miami of Florida next season. The game will be played in Miami's Orange Bowl.

Miami is one of the few schools playing football that has trouble getting away games. All the teams want to play in the Orange Bowl, where a crowd of 30,000 is considered small.

Maryland played Miami for four straight years in the Orange Bowl and netted more money from the one game than from all the other road trips.

Saxton Joins Local Firm

THE CROWE Insurance Agency has announced the appointment of Ronald W. Saxton as an account and sales representative.

Saxton, who resides at Birch Acres with Mrs. Saxton and their four young children, was born in Schenectady, N. Y., and was graduated from Siena College near there. During his senior year, Saxton was elected president of the Eastern Colleges Mock Senate which met in Albany, N. Y. The delegates were from more than 100 colleges and universities in New York and New England.

Following Graduation

Saxton joined the Aetna Casualty and Surety Co. following graduation and after attending training school he served as a field representative in Cleveland, Ohio, and Harrisburg.

Saxton joined the Army during the Korean War and left the service as a sergeant of the 31st Division.

Purchases Half Interest In Firm

NEW YORK (EP) — United States Plywood Corp. has announced purchase of a one-half interest in Bohemia Lumber Co., Inc., of Culp Creek, Ore., for an undisclosed amount of cash.

U. S. Plywood currently is buying Bohemia's fir plywood production of approximately 60 million square feet annually.

Gene C. Brewer, president of U. S. Plywood, and Loran L. Stewart, president of Bohemia, said the purchase would "solidify the contractual relationship between the two companies."

In addition to the plywood plant Bohemia operates two sawmills with annual capacity of 60 million board feet and owns more than 300 million board feet of old growth timber in Oregon.
